BIG CUT IN BOND INTEREST IS ADVOCATED

Blasts Kill One And Injure Ten; Wreck Buildings

Apartment and Business Block and Unoccupied House in Medicine Hat, Alberta, Wrecked By Explosions of Natural Gas

Street Looks Like Old War Road

Canadian Press

Medicine Hat, Alta., Jan. 2.—Shattered like a cardboard box, the Gillespie block, a two-story apartment and business building, was a heap of brick and timber wreckage to-day as a result of a gas explosion which blasted out its walls yesterday evening.

One man lost his life, three other persons were in serious condition, and seven more, including several women and children, were in a hospital to-day.

A. N. Booth, a C.P.R. trainman, died in hospital this morning from burns and serious internal injuries. A resident of the apartment building, Booth was trapped in the falling masonry, and was unconscious when taken to the hospital.

PATIENT UNCONSCIOUS

Four-year-old Pat Haworth was one of the three seriously injured. He was unconscious in the hospital to-day in the same ward with his mother, Mrs. Richard Haworth, and a brother, both victims of the explosion. Another brother was injured, but was released from the hospital after obtaining medical aid.

Louise Isaacs, nineteen, who was hurled from her bedroom to the street, and F. Whitney, another resident of the building, were still on the danger list to-day.

The first explosion of the night wrecked an unoccupied dwelling across the street from the Gillespie block. As firemen fought a fire that

J. Simpson New Toronto Mayor

Labor Man Long Known in Public Affairs Elected to Post

Canadian Press

Toronto, Jan. 2.—Comptroller James Simpson will be Mayor of Toronto for 1935. He succeeds Mayor William Stewart, who retired without contesting yesterday's election after four years of service.

Support of Co-operative Commonwealth Federation followers and Labor adherents was thrown behind Controller Simpson in his bid for the chief magistrate's chair. Alderman Harry Hunt gave him quite a fight, but the two other candidates were well out of the running. They were Controller George Ramsden and A. E. Smith, general secretary of the Canadian Labor Defence League, who was at the bottom of the poll.

CALLED PERSONAL VICTORY

Graham Spry, chairman of the Ontario C.C.F. Council, declared "Jimmy Simpson's victory is a personal victory." Mr. Spry said the triumph was a tribute to Mr. Simpson's qualities and his long public service. The electors refused to be "stampeded by the bogey raised by the opposition against the C.C.F.," Mr. Spry added.

NEW BOARD

Controller Sam McBride, who dropped out of the mayoralty race early in the campaign, was returned to the board of control, heading the poll. The other three members are W. J. Wadsworth, Controller W. D. Robbins and Ralph Day. Two women candidates, Mrs. Adelaide M. Plumptre and Mrs. Tim Buck, wife of the Communist recently released from the Kingston Penitentiary, failed, with Mrs. Buck trailing the field. Toronto has yet to place a woman on the board of control.

WHERE FIFTEEN DIED IN MINE TRAIN EXPLOSION

The shattered engine, its interior ripped out, leaving only a wrecked shell; the ruin of the locomotive boiler, lying at the right, and a car torn almost in two by the blast, were what remained, when the above picture was taken, after the explosion that killed thirteen miners and two enginemen and injured forty-five others at McDunn, West Virginia. The train was carrying 350 workers to the pits of the Elkhorn-Piney Coal Company when the boiler shot upward and descended with terrific force on the first coach. Instantly live steam poured through the car, scalding many of the blast survivors. Another picture appears on Page 18.

McGEER WANTS MILLION SAVED IN VANCOUVER

In Inaugural Address New Mayor Suggests Interest Rate on City's Bonded Indebtedness Be Reduced Fifty Per Cent

Would Have Province Handle Police Work

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Jan. 2.—Immediate action towards reducing the interest paid on Vancouver's bonded debt was urged on the city council to-day by Mayor G. G. McGeer, M.P.P., in his inaugural address. Mr. McGeer succeeded L. D. Taylor as chief magistrate.

Mayor McGeer proposed bondholders be asked to accept a 50 per cent reduction in interest rates, and that the British Columbia Legislature be asked to empower the city to carry out this policy.

Such a reduction would mean a cut of approximately $1,000,000 in annual interest payments, which now total $3,104,160. The average rate is now 4.65 per cent.

The mayor recommended the 1935 budget should make adequate provision for maintenance of all public and social services, and that all other revenue amounts should be applied in payment of interest and liquidation of civic debts.

NO REPUDIATION

"I do not mean that you should adopt any policy of repudiation." Mayor McGeer said. "Nor do I mean to suggest you should ignore any of the contractual obligations of our city. I do wish, however, to impress on you that the sanctity of the contract is never superior to the equity of the obligation.

"Our duty to city citizens, taxpayers, is no less imperative than is our duty to those who have invested in interest-bearing bonds issued in former times of prosperous optimism."

DISMISSALS RESENTED

Magistrates Charge Discourtesy, Injustice; Government Blames McGeer

Vancouver, Jan. 2.—Charges of injustice, discourtesy and suggestions of action by the Bar Association in Vancouver have followed the dismissal, at the request of G. G. McGeer, K.C., newly-elected Mayor of Vancouver, of Magistrates J. A. Findlay and W. M. McKay.

The commission of the two magistrates was rescinded by the B.C. Government on December 28 at the request of Mr. McGeer, H. S. Wood, K.C., and Mackenzie Matheson were named to fill their places.

Among members of the bar in Vancouver quoted as criticizing the rescinding of the magistrates' commission are W. W. B. MacInnis, A. H. Fleishman, Thomas F. Hurley and Gordon Scott, city prosecutor, and Ian Shaw. Mr. Hurley claims it is a blow at the bench which had always been considered above politics.

Mr. Grant is quoted as saying: "It is a violation of British politics."

Mr. Fleishman is quoted as saying: "It is a great tragedy that a court has been dragged into the mire of politics. I believe it is the first time in Canada that a court has been so lowered."

France and Italy Reported Nearing Entente For Peace

After Six Months' Negotiations Countries in Virtual Accord; Foreign Minister Laval to Leave Paris Tomorrow to Visit Rome

Will Talk With Premier Mussolini

Canadian Press from Havas

Paris, Jan. 2. — France and Italy were virtually in agreement to-day on an entente to guarantee peace in central Europe and maintain existing frontiers.

On the basis of this understanding, it was understood, French Foreign Minister Pierre Laval was scheduled to leave for Rome to-morrow to conduct conversations with Premier Benito Mussolini.

The announcement of M. Laval's trip, after six months of delicate negotiations between Paris and Rome, was made to-day following a meeting of the French cabinet. M. Laval, it was stated, had been given carte blanche by the cabinet to make all the preparations for his trip.

While official circles maintained the utmost discretion, it was reliably learned the two governments had arrived at a complete understanding of the points to be discussed by M. Laval and Premier Mussolini. These included the problem of Austrian independence and the maintaining of peace and security in central Europe.

After the conversations a communique will be issued to the press by the two statesmen.

BARTHOU'S DREAM

When M. Laval meets Premier Mussolini he will fulfill the dream of his predecessor in the Foreign Office, the late Louis Barthou, who was working towards Franco-Italian understanding when he was assassinated with King Alexander of Jugoslavia at Marseilles on October 9.

The announcement climaxed weeks of intense preparation both in Rome and Paris, with both governments showing a definitely conciliatory attitude toward major questions on which marked differences of opinion existed.

February Opening Of House Expected

With thirty days' notice customary before a session of the B.C. Legislature is called, it is probable that the opening date for the next session will be the first week in February. No announcement was made to-day but it is expected one will be given after a meeting of the cabinet this week.

Tomato Prices Are Kept Down

Canning Companies Discourage Increasing Production, Commission Told

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Jan. 2.—The two leading canning companies of Canada have a policy of forcing down tomato prices "to discourage increasing production," the royal commission on mass buying was told to-day by F. R. McIntosh, general manager of Associated Quality Canners Ltd. of Toronto. There was no agreement, written or verbal, to bankrupt small, independent canners, he insisted, but the policy of selling tomatoes below cost was designed to discourage establishment of other plants.

When questioned by Chairman W. W. Kennedy and Norman Somerville, commission counsel, Mr. McIntosh hesitated over his replies and once asked not to be forced into "a difficult position." First Mr. McIntosh gave vague replies, then finally admitted the policy existed, saying: "I will be honest and say yes."

"Is there any policy to sell tomatoes at a price with a view of hamstringing the small independent canner?" asked the chairman.

"There is no agreement as far as I am concerned," Mr. McIntosh replied.

ONTARIO M.P. PASSES AWAY

G. B. Nicholson, Member For East Algoma, Conservative, Dies

Toronto, Jan. 2. — George B. Nicholson, Conservative member of the House of Commons for East Algoma, Ont., died in a hospital here yesterday. He had entered the hospital after suffering a stroke.

Mr. Nicholson, who began his life of work in railway construction with the C.P.R. in 1884, became one of Ontario's best known lumbermen. For years he had been president of the firm of Austin and Nicholson, which he organized. He was secretary-treasurer of the McNaught Lumber Co. Ltd., and a director of the Excelsior Life Insurance Co.

He was first elected to the House of Commons for Algoma East in the general election of 1917. He was defeated in 1917 and 1926, but was re-elected in 1925 and 1930.

He was a member of the Rideau Club, Ottawa, and the Albany Club, Toronto. He was a member of the Anglican Church.

NEW FEDERAL MINIMUM WAGE

Order-in-Council Sets Rules For All Dominion Contracts For Factories

Ottawa, Jan. 2. — Establishment of minimum wage rates for both men and women on all future Dominion Government contracts for factory work, and far-reaching steps to ensure payment of decent wages to this class of employment are announced by Minister of Labor W. A. Gordon. Government contracts for the manufacture of boots, shoes, clothing and the like will be affected.

Under an order-in-council approved Monday, according to Mr. Gordon, provisions will be inserted in every contract which the government lets for factory work calling for:

(a) A minimum of thirty cents an hour to be paid to all males engaged on this work of eighteen years of age or over.

(b) A minimum of twenty cents an hour for all females on government factory contract work of eighteen years of age or over.

Ten Hurt In New Year Accidents

Spectacular Crash Between Auto and Street Car as Midnight Strikes; Cars Collide on Four-mile Hill; Hit-and-run Driver Sought

Ten persons injured in New Year accidents were recovering in hospital or at their homes today and none were seriously hurt.

Meanwhile police had started investigation of two bad traffic crashes which sent six people to hospital.

The most spectacular was a collision between an automobile and a street car on Point Ellice Bridge just as the clock was striking midnight New Year's Eve.

Five people were taken to the Jubilee Hospital after this crash. William Teighs, Caledonia Avenue, was the most seriously injured, having head injuries and severe cuts with possible internal injuries. Mr. and Mrs. H. Shallard, 570 David Street, Mrs. Queen Archment, 846 Courtney Street, and Robert Douglas of the Esquimalt Naval Barracks, all sustained general cuts and bruises and shock. Mrs. Shallard left hospital yesterday, but the others were still confined.

"It's a boy." Walter H. Catterall, R.M.D. No. 4, received this joyous news just as the stragglers among the New Year merrymakers were homeward bound at 5.25 o'clock yesterday morning.

Catterall Junior, weighing nine pounds, ten ounces, thus became the 1935 baby of Victoria. As far as records available went, he was the first born of the year in this district.

Mrs. Catterall and the baby were both reported doing well at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Dr. F. M. Bryant was the attending physician.

Dr. Richard U. Light, the "Flying Professor" of Yale University, and Robert Wilson, his radio operator, after flying from New Haven, Conn., to Manila, Philippine Islands, arrived in Victoria this morning aboard the liner Empress of Canada.

Awakened by newspapermen from his slumbers immediately after the ship docked about 7 o'clock, Dr. Light called for tea and smoked a cigarete while he recounted his experiences and told of his immediate plans.

The amateur fliers, who on this trip flew about 22,000 miles crated their Bellanca seaplane for the voyage across the Pacific. They propose to fly from Vancouver to San Francisco and Los Angeles, and from then on events will determine their course.

FLEW BY EASY STAGES

Over four months away from home, the Yale flying pair started out from New Haven, Connecticut, on August 17, and have flown over twenty countries.

TITLES AGAIN COMMONS TOPIC

Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King Gives Notice of Resolution

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Jan. 2.—Just after three Canadians were honored with knighthoods in the King's New Year's honors list, a debate on the question of titles in the House of Commons this session became a prospect. Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Liberal leader, has given notice of a resolution calling on the Prime Minister to refrain from recommending Canadians for such honors.

Mr. King's resolution reads as follows: "That in the opinion of this House the Prime Minister should refrain from recommending to His Majesty the King the conferring of any grade of the peerage or any order of baronetcy or knighthood upon any of His Majesty's subjects resident in Canada."

The resolution makes no reference to decorations other than those carrying titles such as the Order of the Bath or the Order of the British Empire.

The titles question has been a frequent subject of debate in Parliament.

JURORS NAMED AS B. R. HAUPTMANN TRIAL COMMENCES

Selection of Complete Panel By End of Day Expected in Lindbergh Baby Murder Case at Flemington, N.J.

Associated Press

Flemington, N.J., Jan. 2.—Jurors Number 5, 6, 7, 8 and 9 were selected and sworn to-day in the first hour of the afternoon session of the first day of trial of Bruno Richard Hauptmann for the kidnapping and murder of the Lindbergh baby.

Selection of a complete panel before the end of the day appeared possible.

Hauptmann's face was a mask as the jury was accepted and Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, seated a dozen feet away from the German, was impassive—arms folded, eyes on the floor.

The state hammered away on the question of opposition to capital punishment while defence counsel tried to bring out any possible prejudices.

Two persons were excused because of illness, another because of illness in his family, while the prosecution used one of its peremptory challenges on a woman who said she was opposed to the death penalty and the defence one of its twenty such challenges on a man.

The atmosphere in the jammed little courtroom became hot and oppressive and Justice Thomas W. Trenchard halted proceedings long enough to order ventilation.

BRITISH RAILWAYS REPORT GAINS

Canadian Press

London, Jan. 2.—British railways had a much better year in 1934 than the previous year, according to traffic returns of the four great groups issued to-day.

Joint receipts of $745,000,000 were more than $25,000,000 higher than in 1933. All groups benefited in both passenger and freight services, the most notable increase being a gain of more than $16,000,000 by the London, Midland and Scottish Railway.

Canada's Gold Output Attains New Record

Total of $102,242,000 For 1934 Is Reported By Dominion Minister of Mines; Fifty New Milling Plants Started

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Jan. 2.—The 1934 value of Canada's gold output at $102,242,000 established a new high record in the value of production in this country for the eleventh successive occasion, acording to Minister of Mines W. A. Gordon.

In 1933 the output value was $84,350,237. This year's output in fine ounces totaled 2,964,395, a slight increase over 1933.

"To the hundreds of thousands of shareholders, the majority of them resident in Canada, the gold industry disbursed in 1934 roundly $33,000,000 in dividends," said Mr. Gordon. "This compares with 1933 disbursements of $23,426,000."

The development of the Dominion gold resources in 1934 had given greater work to his department in that "more tests were made and experiments conducted in our ore dressing and metallurgical laboratories in 1934 than in any year since the department was established," he said.

Approximately fifty new gold milling plants entered production during the last year, said the minister, and in practically every case tests and experimental work in connection with mill treatment processes were conducted in the department's laboratories.

By far the greater percentage of the new plants were using treatment methods or slight modification of such methods as had been devised by the staff of the ore dressing and metallurgical laboratories.

Ten Hurt In New Year Accidents

They were all passengers in a touring car which was in head-on collision with the street car. According to police information the car traveling east drew out of the line of traffic in the centre of the Point Ellice bridge and caught the left hand front side of an approaching street car. The left side of the automobile was ripped off and the passengers thrown about. The street car was little damaged.

It had not been determined to-day who was driving.

ACCIDENT ON HIGHWAY

Felton "Scotty" Kelman, Metchosin, is in Jubilee Hospital with twelve stitches in a scalp wound after a crash at the foot of Four Mile Hill on the Island Highway New Year's Eve at 8.30 o'clock.

Provincial police were informed that Mr. Kelman was driving towards town on the highway and as he swung under the railway trestle at the bottom of the hill his car went into collision with one driven by Wilfred I. Jones, 402 Hillside Avenue, which was just starting out from the side of the road. Mr. Jones's car was badly damaged, but he was not hurt.

City police were seeking a "hit and run" driver following an accident on Government Street between Yates and Johnson streets yesterday evening. Thomas White, aged sixty-four years, Douglas Hotel, was crossing the street, east to west, when he was struck by a car travelling north on Government Street. A description of the machine, which continued, turning west on Johnson Street, was furnished the police. Mr. Little, who suffered a fracture of a facial bone, was given treatment by Dr. J. H. Moore, and is confined to his hotel room.

MAN KNOCKED DOWN

James Cartmel, St. Francis Hotel, suffered a bruise on the left leg when struck by a car at Government and Yates streets at midnight yesterday. Paul Pepin, Work Point Barracks, reported to police he was driving the car. He swung behind a street car which was turning the corner and did not see Mr. Cartmel, who stepped off the curb at the same time.

Alfred Webb, 133 Cook Street, slipped on Yates Street at 2.30 o'clock yesterday morning and suffered a broken ankle. He was taken to the Jubilee Hospital after receiving first aid.

Gurdas Singh, a Hindu, was treated with six stitches in a scalp wound suffered when he fell on Yates Street about 1 o'clock, New Year's morning. Sergt. Arthur Bishop gave him first aid and Dr. J. A. Neff treated him. He was then sent home.

(c) Males and females under eighteen years of age to receive wages not less than those provided for women and girls in the minimum wages scale of the province in which this work is performed.

APPLY EQUALLY

These minimum rates will apply equally to skilled and unskilled labor. As unskilled labor will have the benefit of these specific minimum rates, the tendency would be to maintain higher differentials in wages for the skilled class of employee on these contracts, said the minister. Thousands of male and female employees across Canada would benefit as a result of the new provisions, stated Mr. Gordon.

In any province where minimum rates might be higher than those specified in the order-in-council, these higher rates would prevail, added the minister.

The present provision in government factory contracts merely contains a fair wage provision.

The effect of this clause is that the prevailing rates in the district must be paid, or where there are no prevailing rates the "Minister of Labor may specify what he considers to be fair. In numerous instances complaint has been made in past years the prevailing rates were unfair and the Minister of Labor has been powerless to intervene.

Cardinal's Death Widely Mourned

Many Visit Bier in Cathedral in London; Burial Set For Friday

Canadian Press from Havas

London, Jan. 2.—A steady stream of people from parishes all over London and from the countryside to-day filed past the bier on which the body of Cardinal Bourne rested in Westminster Cathedral.

The Archbishop of Westminster, highest ranking Catholic prelate in Great Britain, died Tuesday a few minutes after the New Year had been rung in.

At 7 o'clock this morning people began filing past the bier on which the body was placed to pay their last respects to the late prince of the church. At the same time, throughout England masses were celebrated for the repose of the cardinal's soul.

Later to-day a requiem high mass was to be celebrated in the cathedral.

The body will be taken to St. Edmund's College, Hertsfordshire, where burial is to take place Friday.

No Englishman since Cardinal Wolsey rose more swiftly to become a prince of the Catholic Church than Bourne. At thirty-five he was a bishop, an archbishop at forty-two, and a cardinal at fifty. His career, moreover, was singular inasmuch as it was passed practically entirely within the London area. He was born in Clapham in 1861, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bourne, his mother being Irish and his father an Englishman in the service of the post office, who had turned from Protestantism. Cardinal Bourne was educated at Ushaw, and continued his studies in Paris and Louvain. He was ordained priest in 1884, and five years later became rector of Southwark Diocesan Seminary. In 1896 he was appointed coadjutor to the Bishop of Southwark, and a year later became bishop of that diocese. He was appointed Archbishop of Westminster in 1903, and raised to the cardinalate in 1911.

BLASTS KILL ONE AND INJURE TEN

DEBRIS IN STREET

The street to-day appeared like a war shattered roadway. Furniture and debris were strewn about, the dwelling and building a heap of ruins. One side of the Gillespie building was literally wrapped about an adjoining telephone pole, while across the street the dwelling had crumpled.

Seconds after the first explosion flames broke out at a score of points on the open ground where gas was seeping from a burst main. Resembling a prairie fire, the flames raged over a considerable space along the roadway.

CARRIED ACROSS ROOM

Evan A. Isaac, father of Louise Isaac, one of those seriously injured, was sitting in his apartment when the building rocked.

"I was sitting on the arm of a chair in our little suite talking to the family about the explosion across the street," he said to-day "Before I even heard the second explosion I felt myself being lifted through the air and landed on the other side of the room. I don't remember what happened after that."

Isaac was stunned and bruised.

CAUSED BY SEEPAGE

The blasts, the worst here in twenty-one years, were being investigated to-day by J. Shephard, city gas superintendent. The explosions, it was believed, were caused by gas seepage through an open break in a high pressure main.

The last serious natural gas explosion here was in 1913, when a canneries plant was destroyed, killing [illegible] and injuring [illegible]. Among those injured at that time was W. H. Bruchanan, veteran assistant fire chief, and to-day he was again no the hospital list. He was felled by debris as he stood near the Gillespie block yesterday evening, and he sustained spinal injuries, cuts and bruises.

LIST OF INJURED

In addition to Louise Isaacs and F. Whitney, those injured were:

Isabel Isaacs, burns and shock.

Pat Haworth, six, fractured skull.

Jack Haworth, his brother, six, broken leg.

Another Haworth brother was burned, but was allowed to leave the hospital after treatment.

Mrs. F. Whitney, burns and shock.

Mac Gillespie, sixteen, burns.

Mrs. Anderson, arm scorched.

STATEMENTS IN COURT

Magistrate Findlay's statement made before a police court audience follows:

"To-day is the last day of the year. To-day is apparently the last day of my life as magistrate in Vancouver.

"Mr. McGeer went to the government and demanded that Magistrate Findlay be summarily dismissed, and the government dismissed me.

"That is true. Both the Premier and Mr. McGeer have said so.

"The worst criminal before the bar of justice is in a better position than I am.

"He is given a chance to defend himself against the charge.

"I was not accorded the courtesy that is invariably shown to criminals.

"Is there any justice in that? Is there any Christianity in that? I was executed without even being notified of the day of execution.

"The first intimation I had of this matter was when someone in The Sun office telephoned and asked me if I wished to make any comment on my dismissal.

"As magistrate I have always performed my duties faithfully and conscientiously, without fear or favor. I may have made some mistakes. No man is infallible.

WANTS REASON FOR DISMISSAL

"Naturally I wished to know the reason for my dismissal and, when I asked for a reason a member of the government told me to inquire of Mr. McGeer, because the responsibility was his.

"Mr. McGeer's statement, as published, says: 'If for no other reason I was elected to clean up the crime conditions, and I am going to do it.

"'Co-operation of the provincial government in carrying out the first step has paved the way for the rest of the contemplated reforms.'

"The first step was my dismissal. To the public Mr. McGeer's statement means that my dismissal was necessary that he might clean up the crime conditions.

"I have tried to think of some way in which a magistrate could interfere with the proper administration of justice, and the only way I can think of is by arbitrarily ordering the withdrawal of serious charges preferred in good faith.

"I have never done this, or anything else that could interfere with the proper administration of justice. I have always maintained that there should be either a conviction or an acquittal. In minor offences, counsel for the crown has sometimes stated that in this opinion there should be a withdrawal; in such cases I have allowed them to be withdrawn.

"In some morality cases I have given suspended sentence when the accused asked to be allowed to leave the city and go to her home.

"If she failed to leave the city and was subsequently convicted, as the fact brought to my attention, she received a more severe sentence than she otherwise would have.

"Nothing I have ever done could justify my dismissal.

A CHANGE

"A week ago my family would compare favorably with any other family in Vancouver in regard to honesty, truthfulness and all other attributes that make a Christian.

"To-day they say there is no God, that if there were a just God He would not have allowed to happen what has happened.

"They say to me, 'You have lived on honest and upright life and have given money to the poor and needy; where have you landed? There cannot be a God. Why go to church and pretend to worship God when there is no God. There is no such thing as righteousness; only might is right.'

"Mr. McGeer is responsible for that state of affairs. He has ruined my reputation and destroyed my family's faith and trust in God by his action.

"Mr. Mackenzie Matheson, my successor, advised me on Saturday to go to Victoria and request the government to reinstate me, and he authorized me to state that if the government would reinstate me he would be pleased.

"He stated that he had not sought the position and had not been asked if he would accept it.

"He said he did not wish to take away my means of livelihood.

"I did not follow Mr. Matheson's advice because my dismissal was brought about by Mr. McGeer. I have known Mr. Matheson ever since 1900, and he is every inch a gentleman.

"I call on Mr. McGeer as a professing Christian to request the government to reinstate me, and thereby, in part, repair the damage done to my reputation and help to re-establish in the minds of my family belief in the existence of a just God.

"An honorable man, a sincere Christian, will not hesitate to do so.

"With this cloud hanging over me I do not think I should try any cases to-day.

"I have asked Magistrate McQueen to take my court, and he has kindly consented to do so."

MAGISTRATE MCKAY

Magistrate McKay stated:

"I cannot gloss over the fact that this has been the most terrible shock I ever had in my life.

"I, therefore, do not feel like going into any lengthy explanation, if I were capable of doing it. I know I have the esteem of the bar as a whole.

"I have received nothing but kindness over three years that I have been sitting here, and I do not think I ever had to raise my voice to lawyers, who have treated me with the greatest respect and always agreed to everything I laid down.

"All I can say is this: That why this should have happened I do not know.

"I am not given the same right that I have been giving others.

"A man is never guilty until he is proven guilty, and I have not been given the slightest chance.

"I have taken means to go to the Attorney-General of this province, and he says there is not a shadow of suspicion against me of any kind, but that it had to be done because the mayor-elect wanted it.

"That is all I can say.

"My conscience is absolutely clear.

"It has been clear through twenty-two years being in semi-public positions, crown prosecutor, city prosecutor, magistrate and judge, and I have nothing to fear."

ONTARIO DEATH

Simcoe, Ont., Jan. 2.—Dr. Charles E. Eaid, seventy-nine, prominent in Liberal politics in Norfolk County for many years and well-known veterinary surgeon, died yesterday.

ONTARIO M.P. PASSES AWAY

BORN IN P.E.I.

He was born March 17, 1868, at Crapaud, P.E.I., a son of Thomas Nicholson and his wife, formerly Miss Rebecca Best, both Canadians. In 1894 he married Miss Charlotte A. Waller. She died some years ago. There is one daughter. A son, Lieut. Lorne Nicholson, was killed during the Great War.

In 1929 Mr. Nicholson married again, Mrs. Margaret W. Keefer, a widow, becoming his wife.

Mr. Nicholson's death created the fourth vacancy in the House of Commons, and reduced the Conservative membership to 132. Other party standings are: Liberals 92, United Farmers 10, Labor 4, Independents 2, Progressives 1.

BALANCING OF BUDGET

Every endeavor must be made to balance the budget, the mayor declared. Every practical economy must be put into effect. Those on relief who could work should be compelled to give fair and adequate service for all sums they received.

He declared the basis of civic revenue must be reorganized, and that the city could not go on levying taxes on real estate that were confiscatory. He proposed a special committee be appointed with a view to finding effective remedies.

Mr. McGeer stated he would soon propose appointment of a special committee of the council to make a complete survey of the cost of maintaining civic government with a view to departmental reorganization to eliminate all unnecessary expense.

Co-operation of Dominion and provincial authorities should be sought, he said, with a view to reducing the cost of government and improving efficiency of services such as the levying of government and improving efficiency of services such as the levying and collection of taxes, maintenance of public health and development of education institutions, and prevention of crime and maintenance of order.

POLICING BY PROVINCE

He stated law and order should be maintained by one provincial police organization and that the cost of law and order should be a provincial obligation.

"Representative local government is on trial," he said. "If we cannot agree, there is one alternative and that is that the city must be placed in the hands of a receivership. I hope such an event can be avoided."

FEWER COMMITTEES

Vancouver, Jan. 2.—Alderman C. E. Tisdall, former Vancouver mayor, was named deputy mayor to-day by Mayor G. G. McGeer at the inaugural meeting of the city council. He will also assume chairmanship of the civic finance committee. The number of committees has been reduced from twelve to ten by the new mayor.

John Cameron, veteran police officer, resigned as chief of police of Vancouver Monday evening. He gave his resignation in on the final meeting of the existing police commission.

DAY OF PRAYER

Vancouver, Jan. 2 (Canadian Press).—Mayor G. G. McGeer has set aside next Sunday, by proclamation, as a day of "service, humiliation and prayer," and has invited all aldermen, civic department heads, legislators, judges and magistrates, all other persons in authority and all loyal and law-abiding people to assemble in their preferred places of worship that day.

He recommended a united cry for pardon in the belief "that we have fallen on evil days because we have forgotten God."

"May we not justly fear," he asked, which now desolates the land and our community, was inflicted upon us for our presumptuous sins?"

Jurors Named As Bruno R. Hauptmann Trial Commences

C. Lloyd Fisher of defence counsel drew the ire of State Attorney-General David T. Wilentz when he asked a prospective juror, Charles Walton, if the presence of uniformed state troopers would affect his judgment.

"I object to the question," Wilentz protested. "If your honor please, for the reason that it manifestly tends to attract sympathy that is not warranted."

Mrs. Anne Morrow Lindbergh, bereaved mother of the abducted and slain infant, was not in the courtroom for the opening of the trial.

Mrs. Hauptmann, staunch backer of her husband's fight against conviction, sat unobstrusively in the rear of the packed courtroom.

LAUGH AT WINCHELL

Fisher questioned A. R. Heckman, a ventreman, about the writings of a New York daily paper columnist (Walter Winchell). Heckman said he did not read the column, but that he heard him on the radio, but "wouldn't let a man like that influence me."

There was a roar of laughter. Winchell was in court as a reporter. Justice Trenchard rapped his gavel and strongly and gravely warned the spectators such an outburst of laughter must not be repeated or he would take steps to prevent a recurrence.

The defence then made a peremptory challenge and Heckman stepped down from the witness stand and walked from the court.

MACHINIST FOREMAN

A machinist will be foreman. He is Charles Walton.

The opening of the trial to-day presented boom-town scenes as 700 reporters, wiremen and others descended on the busily-engaged but calm 2,700 inhabitants of the village.

Seventy of the townfolk were in a line whose head pressed against the courtroom before the opening. Many of them were disappointed, for they could not be jammed into the tiny space allotted for the trial. One girl offered to pay the sheriff money for standing room. An aged man said he only came (from forty miles away) to "look at the public."

"JAFSIE" MAY APPEAR

New York, Jan. 2—Dr. John F. Condon, vouching for his readiness to testify for the state of New Jersey in its effort to convict Bruno Hauptmann of the Lindbergh kidnap-killing, said to-day he regarded it as a "dreadful ordeal," but worth while if it should result in expiation of the crime.

The seventy-four-year-old retired school teacher, the "Jafsie" of the Lindbergh ransom negotiations, withheld his opinion as to whether Hauptmann was guilty, but expressed hope he was nearing an end to the task he set himself two years and ten months ago.

HIS GREATEST CASE

New York, Jan. 2.—Edward Jay Reilly, ruddy chief of defence counsel, "would not take $1,000,000 for the privilege of defending Bruno Richard Hauptmann."

"It is the greatest, the most interesting case I have ever defended," Reilly said of the Lindbergh murder trial to-day.

"It is the poorest paying, too," he said. "I shall be lucky to come out of this with my shirt, but there is going to be $1,000,000 worth of fun in it."

During thirty years of criminal court practice, Reilly has tried, in his own estimation, 2,000 murder cases, among them some of the most spectacular acquittals ever recorded in [illegible].

Some of the defence methods of the florid, 200-pound six-footer have become legends in legal circles. A former captain in the army, Reilly usually outlines his defence as the prosecution is developed in court.

He has not disclosed his line of attack in the Hauptmann trial. In fact, he has said he will not know what course to follow until the prosecution has laid its cards on the table.

"But we have combed the country for witnesses," he said, "and I know we can trump the prosecution's every ace."

TO BUY MORE SOVIET TIMBER

British Interests Said to Have Reached Agreement For Russian Lumber in 1935

London, Jan. 2. — The London Morning Post to-day said it understood a provisional agreement had been reached between Timber Distributors Limited and representatives of the Russian timber export agency for a supply to the British market of 400,000 standards in 1935 at lower prices than in 1934 (a standard is 165 cubic feet).

The shipment would represent an increase of 50,000 standards over the quantity the government permitted Timber Distributors to import from the Soviet last year.

The Morning Post said it understood strong representations were likely to be made again on behalf of Canadian timber interests for a reduction of the figure. It added the proposed cut in price was said to be dependent on an increase in the quantity bought in Britain and was aimed at enabling Russian producers to compete more favorably with a formidable and growing rivalry from British Columbia.

PLENTY FROM B.C.

The newspaper added it had been demonstrated clearly last year that Canada could easily fulfill all Britain's timber requirements and that Canadian producers had made every effort to adapt their timber to British specifications. The results, it declared, had proved much more satisfactory than was originally anticipated.

A fracture of the skull was the cause of death in both instances.

Ask Your Doctor First, Mother

Before You Give Your Child an Unknown Remedy to Take

According to any doctor you may ask, there is one duty every mother owes her child. The duty of asking him before giving her child an unknown remedy to take.

Yet, unthinkingly, every day mothers violate this simple rule. Take the advice of unqualified persons — instead of their doctors' — on remedies for their children.

If they knew what the scientists know, they would never take the chance.

Doctors Say PHILLIPS' For Your Child

When it comes to the very frequently used "milk of magnesia," authorities stand solidly together.

Ask your own doctor about this. For over 50 years, doctors, whose life work it is to study the safety and quality of drugs that go into the home, have said "PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia for your child."

For "Phillips" is the result of over a half century of continuous laboratory experiment. And is rated among the finest products that science knows in its field, the kind of product your child deserves.

So Always Say "Phillips'" when you buy. And see that your child gets what you ask for — Genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. Do this for your own peace of mind.

Also in Tablet Form!

Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets are now on sale at all drug stores everywhere. Each tiny tablet is the equivalent of a teaspoonful of Genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

BETTER TIMES ARE PREDICTED

New Year Brighter Than 1934, Says Labor Congress Head

Canadian Times

Ottawa, Jan. 2. — Tom Moore, veteran leader of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, looks forward with confidence to better conditions in 1935. In his annual New Year's message, he said that 1934, although a year of want and misery, had laid some foundations for renewed confidence that better times lay ahead.

"The year 1934," Mr. Moore said, "has drawn to a close with more than one-tenth of the population dependent for their existence on public aid and the volume of unemployment still at a level that stands as a challenge to all right thinking citizens.

"The year has not been one, however, of entire discouragement, and steps taken in certain directions, though often of a faltering and hesitant character, have served to rekindle hopes of brighter times ahead.

"By organized effort the wave of salary and wage reductions has not only been definitely checked, but in many instances partial restoration of cuts previously put into effect has been secured. Some progress has also been made, mostly through negotiation and agreement, towards the establishment of the five-day week and shorter work day. These upward revisions of wages and salaries, along with the reduction of working hours, have been immediately reflected in increased industrial and commercial activity, and the creation of additional opportunities for employment.

CHANGES NEEDED

"Against this must be reckoned the greater numbers of available workers because of the natural growth of population, etc., and it is apparent that much more rapid and radical changes in these matters will have to be made if the volume of unemployment is to be effectively coped with.

"The past year has seen a strengthening of public opinion in that it is a duty of governments to assume responsibility for the maintenance of those who, through disability, unemployment or other causes, cannot provide for themselves, and expenditure of money which this has involved has brought about a more widespread realization of the extent to which misery and destitution exist throughout the country.

BUSINESS INQUIRY

"Exposures, by the parliamentary committee and the royal commission on price spreads and mass buying, of the payment of deplorably low wages, and the prevalence of sweatshop conditions in many commercial and industrial enterprises throughout Canada, has already resulted in the revision, extension and stricter enforcement of minimum wage laws of several provinces.

"This inquiry, coupled with the influence of experiments carried on in the United States under the NRA has already led to some measures of a regulatory character and the likelihood of further action of a similar nature in the near future.

PUBLIC WORKS

"Another hopeful sign has been the acceptance of the principle, urged on the government by the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, of undertaking construction of public works by the issue of currency, without resorting to the medium of borrowing at high rates of interest, and during the last session of Parliament a sum of $40,000,000 was appropriated for that purpose. Extension of this principle in respect to construction of other needed works, including housing plans, and railroad and grade separations, would bring a great deal of relief to the unemployed.

"Comparatively meagre though the progress during 1934 has been toward establishing economic and social equilibrium, trade unionists look forward with confidence to the opportunities ahead to play an active part in the reconstruction of our national life. By building on gains already made there is every reason to believe that 1935 can be a brighter and happier year for all, and that through united effort the present misery and destitution abolished from our midst."

DEATHS DURING CELEBRATIONS

Three Fatalities in New York as New Year Greeted

New York, Jan. 2.—Gotham mopped up to-day after the greatest New Year's celebration in the city's history —but the aftermath was recorded on police court blotters, in hospitals and in the morgue.

Three deaths—two in automobile crashes and one from injuries suffered in a fall—were attributed indirectly to the revelry, while thirty-six celebrators faced magistrates' courts in Manhattan on intoxication charges. Most of them received suspended sentences.

Ambulances responded to 320 calls, exclusive of automobile crashes, during the first half of 1935's first day, to treat accident victims.

There were twenty-two auto accidents in Manhattan and the Bronx in the same period, injuring seventy-eight persons. Two men were held on charges of driving while intoxicated.

Times Square's biggest throng jostled and jolted in 1935 with a gay, strident New Year's demonstration, the greatest in New Year's history.

COLD CAUSES DEATH

Calgary, Jan. 2 (Canadian Press)—The sixth death in Alberta in the cold spell which was broken Monday was reported yesterday evening. W. H. Fowler, seventy-year-old bachelor farmer of Hainstock, near Olds, was found dead in his shack Sunday, according to Royal Canadian Mounted Police, who are investigating. Fowler had been in ill health for more than a month and had been visited regularly by E. Baker. Baker did not visit him Saturday and when he went on Sunday he found the old man dead.

ENDED HIS LIFE

London, Jan. 2 (Canadian Press from Havas) — Carl Senin of New York, a director of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Pictures, committed suicide Monday night in Johannesburg, South Africa, a correspondent of The London Daily Express there reported to-day.

U.S. Congress To Meet To-morrow

Both Houses Are Expected to Pass Soldiers' Bonus Bill

Associated Press

Washington, Jan. 2.—Two familiar trouble makers—the soldiers' bonus and the world court—to-day were ready to give the United States Congress, called to assemble to-morrow, a raucous greeting.

Relief and social security measures are high up on the administration programme, and Democrats and Republicans look for some legislation to prevent monopolies.

Unshaken by President Roosevelt's stand against the bonus, veterans' organizations aligned their forces for a finish struggle in the new congress.

The powerful political influence of the American Legion was pitted against that of the White House today by its national commander, Frank N. Belgrano Jr., who said the Legion would continue to press its claim for payment.

Meanwhile, Democratic congressional leaders conceded the cash bonus bill would pass both branches. In what form and whether over a presidential veto, they said remained in doubt.

BRITAIN SEES NEW YEAR IN

Throngs Gather in London and Welcome King George's Silver Jubilee Year

London, Jan. 2.—England went on its biggest spending spree since 1928 to welcome the entrance of 1935 and the silver jubilee year of the reign of King George.

Thousands of revellers, gathered in London hotels and restaurants and thronging the streets, renewed expressions of loyalty in toasts to their sovereign.

The Prince of Wales came to London for the celebrations, but the rest of the royal family remained in Sandringham. There in a traditional ceremony, the King and Queen led the household in drinking to 1935 from a bowl of hot punch.

ARCTIC PLANE ROUTE SOUGHT

One-man Venture Into North Radium Prospecting and Air Route Surveying

Canadian Press

Churchill, Man., Jan. 2. — Search for what may prove to be the world's richest radium deposits and possibilities of an Arctic air route were merged to-day with a one-man dash into the north to recover records of the ill-fated Sir John Franklin expedition.

W. K. Pease, intrepid British explorer, will leave here January 10 for Chesterfield Inlet, enroute to Boothia Peninsula, and a mystery island 850 miles to the north. A party of British geologists visited the region in 1933 and found definite signs of large radium deposits.

A subsidiary purpose of the venture, it is believed, is to consider the possibilities of an Arctic air route. The region between Baffin Land and Beaufort Sea is the logical route for a plane service, which could be organized to transport radium and other precious ores.

To reach his goal, young Pease, early apprenticed in the study of Arctic topography, will skirt King William Island, a few miles to the south of the peninsula. Location of the mineral deposits is believed to lie on the island. The only companions of the explorer will be his fifteen-months' old terrier, Jil, and an Eskimo guide.

On the southwest of King William Island stands a lichen-covered cairn, erected by Thomas Simpson, Arctic explorer, in 1839. Past that rock monument the crews of H.M.S. Erebus and Terror, Sir Franklin's lost expedition, must have traveled on their death march to Back's Great Fish River in 1848.

Pease conferred in London with Sir Hubert Wilkins, distinguished Arctic explorer, last summer prior to his departure for Canada. Discussion, it was believed, concerned a search for radium deposits and plans for surveying landing fields in the northland.

Significance of these objectives is such that calculators in northland arithmetic put two and two together to make a remarkable exploratory total. From behind a curtain of secrecy that preceded his arrival here two months ago Pease and his dog Jil will step into a three-year solitude to bring them to a colorful conclusion.

After preliminary work has been completed a group of trained scientists under Commander F. A. Worsley of London, will join Pease to lay the foundations for an intensive siege of scientific study.

A BALANCED BUDGET

IN HIS STATEMENT TO THE TIMES ON Monday Hon. John Hart made it clear that he was continuing to devote all his thought and energy to the presentation of a balanced budget to the Legislature. This is something devoutly to be wished, since it would provide a marked stimulus to provincial credit and would encourage investment and industry within the province. It is no secret, moreover, that the condition of provincial finance has been steadily improving throughout the year, that the provincial revenue has been expanding and that there are other indications which point to the realization of the Finance Minister's programme.

Apart, however, from the desirability of a balanced budget as a matter of elementary policy, there is an implied obligation in the various negotiations conducted by the provincial government with Ottawa for federal financial assistance to keep its expenditure within income, if it is at all humanly possible. If this obligation is discharged, the province will be on much stronger ground in its discussion of financial matters with the Dominion.

Mr. Hart proposes to pursue his refunding scheme with a view to the reduction of interest rates on the higher issues of provincial loans. This policy is being adopted all over the world, notably, as far as Canada is concerned, by the Dominion and other provinces, and it is generally recognized as inevitable. It is impossible for either the federal government or any of the provincial governments to maintain their financial structures on interest rates which alone among the innumerable charges against both governments and public have had no reduction. The Minister of Finance believes that when his refunding scheme has been completed he will be able to effect a saving of $5,000,000, which would be a long step out of the financial jungle.

FRANCE AND ITALY

THE ANNOUNCEMENT FROM PARIS that France and Italy have formed an entente to ensure peace in Central Europe is of capital importance. Its chief significance lies not so much in the purposes the accord is designed to accomplish, but in the fact that it records the closing of the gap which has separated these two powers for some years, the discovery of a common ground of friendly relations, and the composition of the nationalistic rivalries which had arisen between them in many quarters.

Italy always has looked obliquely upon France's understanding with Jugoslavia, Roumania and Czechoslovakia, regarding it particularly in its relation to the first of those three powers as an indirect threat at herself. France has regarded the new nationalism of Italy under Mussolini as something which has been aimed at her, both at home and abroad, and at times there has been considerable tension in the attitude of the two powers towards one another.

In one respect, however, they have shared common ground, and that is their determination that Germany should not absorb Austria. On that point Italian policy has been adamant, so much so that during the revolution in Austria an Italian army was mobilized on the frontier with the avowed intention of intervening if necessary to prevent any amalgamation between the two Germanic countries.

Foreign Minister Barthou was engaged in an effort to restore the traditional friendship of France and Italy when he was assassinated at Marseilles. Foreign Minister Laval has taken up the work and evidently has brought it to the point of a satisfactory agreement. This should fit into the picture in which Great Britain is engaged in establishing a comprehensive European accord under which every country will feel secure. It undoubtedly removes one of the chief dangers to peace and as such is an encouraging example of enlightened statesmanship which will redound to the high credit of the French and Italian governments.

CO-OPERATION IN UTILITY FACT-FINDING

"THE PUBLIC INTEREST IN UTILITIES has been badly jammed during the depression," writes Dr. John Bauer, director of the American Public Utilities Bureau, in an article, "Can Government Leadership Cut the Valuation Tangle?" in the current National Municipal Review.

"For the most part electric rate levels have remained unchanged since before the depression," he says. Yet, "in every state and community permanent prosperity and economic progress depend basically upon adequate and cheap power. The reductions have not corresponded with the tremendous decline in price level and contraction in purchasing power, nor to the advance in power technology and attainable economy."

Establishment by Congress of appropriations to permit the Federal Power Commission to work with the state commissions in determining a uniform procedure for fixing utility valuations is proposed in the article. Such a standardized and uniform body of information would overcome the present lack of adequate data on the part of the state commissions at present, Dr. Bauer believes.

"The cost of such comprehensive investigation could be kept within a very modest sum considered in relation to the importance of the job," Dr. Bauer says. "Economy of procedure would appear in careful planning and in the standardization both of classification, unit prices, and all other phases of the work. The federal government would bear the direct cost of [illegible] the co-operative machinery and making the [illegible] studies that apply jointly [illegible] entertain the history of valuations [illegible] Plintoff. [illegible] W. Robinson, Mrs. [illegible]son, Mrs. J. Whittle, Mrs. T. Milburn, Miss E. Peatt and Miss K. Goodall were conveners for tea.

To do an adequate public job requires federal initiative and financing. Otherwise, in most states practically nothing will be done; injustice to consumers will continue; and the attainment of reasonable power policy will be postponed to the indefinite future."

THE LEAGUE JUSTIFIED

TWO LIVES WERE LOST AND APPARently a good deal of blood was spilled in the Saar Territory during the holiday season; but it may be described as a family affair between Saarlanders who are Nazis and those who are opposed to Hitlerism. The former are led by Herr J. Pirro and the latter, who are Socialists, by Herr Max Braun.

The chief significance about the Saar at this time and the plebiscite which is to be taken next Sunday week—to determine whether its 800,000 odd population want to be governed by a Commission of the League of Nations as at present, whether they want to return to German sovereignty, or become citizens of France—lies in the fact that both France and Germany are keeping out of the picture entirely and are leaving the matter of maintaining order and insuring a fair vote to an international force composed of British, Italian, Dutch, and Swedish troops.

It may be said, of course, that Germany feels certain of the result of the plebiscite because of the large preponderance of Germans in the territory, and that there is no need for her to be in it in a provocative sense. Naturally, while she has blundered badly in the past, she is in no mood to put herself outside the pale by the overt act.

Of all the motley brood hatched at the Peace Conferences—war debts, disarmament, Austrian independence, Upper Silesia, the Free City of Danzig, the Polish Corridor—it is safe to say that none has provided so many political tribulations and apprehensions for statesmen and governments, and the League of Nations as the Saar.

However, while the atmosphere there a short time ago appeared to be explosive, things seem to have cooled down and serious trouble on January 13 is not anticipated. On that day ends the fifteen-year term set for the Saar's government under League supervision. The League is there in authority with the troops of four nations to back it up if necessary. Thus in one aspect at least the dream of an international police force has come true.

LOCAL GOVERNMENT

FURTHER EVIDENCE OF THE DETERmination of our neighbors on the south to improve their local government is seen by Howard P. Jones, secretary of the National Municipal League, in commenting on referendum elections early in November when two cities and one county adopted manager government and significant reorganization measures were adopted in other cities.

In Toledo, Ohio, for example, the city-manager-form-of-government was adopted by a majority of more than 5,000 votes. The new charter provides for the elections of councilmen by proportional representation, making Toledo the fourth governmental unit in the United States electing its representatives by this method. Manager charters had previously been defeated by Toledo in 1929 and again in 1931. The new council will be elected a year from now, and the plan will go into effect on January 1, 1936. Schnectady, New York, by the way, adopted the manager plan by a two-to-one vote. Here, too, the plan will go into effect in 1936, the first manager council being elected in November, 1935.

Douglas County, Nebraska, in which the city of Omaha is situated, adopted a county manager plan by a 12,000 majority. It is the first county in the state to take advantage of a recently-passed enabling act of the State Legislature under which counties may, by popular referendum, adopt the manager-form of government. The plan will become effective on January 1, 1937.

Three cities voting on a proposition to abandon the manager plan decided to retain it. They are Burbank, California; Kenosha, Wisconsin, and Two Rivers, Wisconsin. In Ohio four of the eight counties voting on the question of selecting a commission to draft a new charter for county government voted to do so and elected the members of the commission. These are Cuyahoga County, which includes the city of Cleveland; Hamilton County, which includes Cincinnati; Lucas County, which includes Toledo, and Mahoning County, which includes Youngstown. It is expected that extensive reorganization changes will be considered by the newly-elected commissions, and there are strong indications that administration by county-manager systems will be utilized in several instances.

In Florida voters approved the consolidation of Duval County and the city of Jacksonville. An amendment to the state constitution was necessary, voted on by the entire state. Similar consolidation was approved by the city and county of Milwaukee.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

NEGLECTED ORCHARDS
The Sarnia Canadian-Observer

All over Ontario there are apple orchards that have been permitted to deteriorate because their owners did not consider it worth while to devote the special attention to them necessary for the production of first-class fruit. It is recognized now that this neglect was a mistake, since the market for apples has expanded enormously, and this fruit crop is now a mainstay of agriculture where other sources of revenue have failed.

OVERBURDENED TAXPAYERS
The Edmonton Bulletin

Searching around for something that can be taxed more heavily than it is taxed, with a prospect of getting any large revenue, is in the present state of general impoverishment a good deal like the game of "Who's got the button?" What proportion of the people of Alberta have anything on which they can afford to pay the taxes they are already paying, to say nothing about paying part of what somebody else is paying? That is the question of first importance. Levying taxes on vanished incomes is no more productive than making levies on real estate whose value has also vanished.

Loose Ends

We prepare to say goodbye to an old friend—who really was a total failure—We need more weather like this—and Madame Lupescu continues to intrigue.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

THE CHIEF weakness of this column is that it is just a year late. I had it all written out for use on New Year's Eve, but I made the fatal mistake of entrusting it to a young friend of mine. His name is Leslie Fox and eh is a newspaper man, brilliant, but absent-minded. He carried it around in his pocket for two days instead of giving it to the printers. That is why you missed this column altogether the other night, if you did miss it. Now, with the Old Year and the cold snap over it, doesn't make much sense. But I didn't like to waste so much work just on account of a worthless fellow like Mr. Fox. Anyway, Mr. Fox said, it won't mean any less than usual. Let it go.

NEAR THE END

WELL, BEFORE he has died and been buried, it seems only decent that someone should say a few words about the current year, now in the last stages of dissolution. But what is one to say about the year 1934? What commendation can one give him over the grave? What has he contributed to the march of time which will make him remembered in the days to come?

Probably not much. It is a solemn thought, indeed, that after all the promise of his youth, after all the expectations and high resolves over his cradle, the year 1934 turned out in every respect a notable failure. It is a solemn thought that in a hundred years 1934 will never be heard of again; or even in ten years. It is still more solemn to realize that 1935, to which you look forward with such hope, will probably be no more notable, will probably join the procession of the years without honor and without recognition.

A year seems important at the time, but really doesn't amount to much. Take any year since 1900, and probably you won't be able to remember a single notable thing about it. Why, there won't be half a dozen years in this century which will be remembered in history or even in the next generation. Probably only four so far are of any permanent importance—1914, the beginning of the war; 1917, the Russian Revolution (possibly more important in its ultimate effect); 1918, the end of the war, and 1929, the first real sign that an era had ended and another was being mysteriously born.

Who can remember anything, for example, about 1907, or 1923, or 1931? Who can remember anything about more than twenty or thirty different years from the birth of Christ onward? You remember 1215, which produced Magna Charta? But what about 1214 or 1216? Who ever heard of them?

NO LUCK

A YEAR must have a lot of luck to be remembered at all. The years 1914, 1917, 1918 and 1929 were just ordinary years to start with. No one paid much attention to them. They didn't seem particularly gifted in their infancy. No one expected much of them. But they had the luck. Poor old 1934 just never could get going somehow. Nobody would give him any help by starting a war or a Russian Revolution or a new depression. By next June he will be almost completely forgotten. By 1945 people will ask themselves who was prime minister of Canada or mayor of Victoria in 1934, and they will have to telephone the Public Library to find out.

Still, you never know. You never know what may have been going on in 1934 that escaped our notice. You didn't know at the end of 1931, for instance, that the United States was getting ready for the great political upheaval of 1932. You didn't know at the end of 1913 that the statesmen of Europe were getting ready to blow the old world to pieces in the following summer.

Why, I recall with tears of humiliation having written in this very space at the end of 1929 that nothing of great importance had occurred that year. The stock market crash only seemed an incident at the time and everybody was still prosperous on New Year's Eve. We didn't know then that in the previous October our system had broken down and could never be revived on the old basis. If anyone had told us so, we should have laughed at him.

You never know what 1934 was doing behind our backs. He may have started some movement which will forever mark him in history. In any case, you may be sure that we really shall not know what he was like for a long time yet. As you say goodbye to him, therefore, try not to be too hard on him. Try to suspend your judgment for a while. He may yet turn out to be quite a year.

WHAT WE NEED

WHAT VICTORIA NEEDS are more more cold snaps like this one. Cold snaps are good for the Victorian soul. But it must make the gods of the weather laugh to see how Victorians behave in a cold snap; how they regard a quarter of an inch of snow as a national disaster; how they shiver in two degrees of frost; how they watch the north wind and tell one another with a shudder that the thermometer may go down six or seven degrees to-night; how they rush out and order an extra ton of coal and huddle in their houses as if a Manitoba blizzard were raging outside; how they go about the streets with the look of men who are living through a vast upheaval of nature which may prove fatal at any moment.

[illegible] Victorian soul to realize that this would be mild weather in most of Canada. The native of Prince George or Winnipeg would go about in it without an overcoat and congratulate himself on the open winter. Ah, but your Victorian says, the cold here is so different from the cold anywhere else. It is a superior kind of cold, like all our other special Island qualities and products. It penetrates deeper, like our culture. It sears into you, like our public intelligence. It is colder with two degrees of frost in Victoria than it is at twenty below zero in Calgary. Any Victorian will tell you that.

And, of course, it is all nonsense. I used to believe it until a year ago when I spent a day driving through a Cariboo blizzard, about 300 miles, at a temperature some two degrees below zero. This, I told my friends as I started out, is nothing. Why, I said, this isn't as cold as when it is barely freezing in Victoria. One hardly needs gloves for this, I said, because it isn't like our wet, penetrating cold. But at the end of 300 miles with one ear frozen, I told myself secretly that two degrees below zero was quite chilly after all. The natives said it was a fairly warm day.

The truth is that the legend of our cold is just an excuse for the climatic softness of our souls. We don't like to admit that we can't stand reasonable Canadian weather, so we have invented the fiction about a special kind of cold which is felt more keenly than other kinds. No doubt we feel it more keenly, not because it is hard, but because we are soft.

I have no doubt the original inhabitants of this coast believed the same legend. Of all the natives of America, you will observe, they were the slowest-moving, and the least attractive physically. They were the victims of their climate. In a thousand years, if this climate goes on, we shall be exactly like them, too. As I look about me at Victorians shivering in this nice mild winter, I am inclined to cut that estimate to five hundred years or less. What we need here are more cold snaps but I am glad to say we are not likely to get them.

THE MADAM

THAT EXCITINGLY mysterious Madame Lupescu, [illegible] silly-faced king of Roumania, continues to get into the newspapers every day. Apparently politics in southeastern Europe revolve around this lady, whom the magazine Time charmingly calls the world's Number One Mistress. Indeed, the extra-marital fidelity betweetn King Carol and his gal is about the only understandable thing about the politics of south-eastern Europe. Remove the red-head and what you have left is very complicated and very dull.

If Roumania wants to keep in the world's eye for tourist and financial purposes, it should certainly not dispense with the Madam. She has provided a somewhat reprehensible, but none the less absorbing love interest in the affairs of the Balkans, which they have never enjoyed before. Your average inhabitant of North America may have no real idea where Roumania is on the map; he may be utterly confused by the funny names, by the Croats, Jugoslavians and Hungarians; he may have no idea what game the big nations are playing down there, but he does remember the red-headed lady who lives with King Carol without benefit of clergy. He can't understand Balkan politics, but he can understand that all right and it gives him an innocent amusement, makes him feel that he isn't entirely ignorant of foreign affairs, even if they are only unholy affairs of love. I am all for Madame Lupescu.

Besides, about the only commendable thing Carol has ever done in his life is to hang on to his girl friend and refuse to throw her aside for political reasons despite all the pressure of his prime ministers and generals. If he would only marry the girl, the average inhabitant of North American would say he wasn't such a bad fellow after all. But if the intriguing scandal were to be removed so easily, Roumania probably won't be heard of again in our time.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELIS

FOR A CHILD

O, to be a ruddy light
Set upon a hill,
Through the dusk and through the night
Shining, shining still!

O, to be a beacon strong,
Flashing far and wide
Where the swift ships plunge along
Through the angry tide!

O, to be a candle spark,
Golden wings outspread,
Brighter in the velvet dark,
Flaming, unafraid!

Light is loviest of all
Gifts that God has given:
Though your light be great or small,
It is part of heaven!

Berlin, Jan. 2.—Reichsfuehrer Hitler gave the diplomats of world powers assurance yesterday of Germany's peaceful intentions under an international golden rule. Immediately afterward he received the homage of Nazi storm troopers and hundreds of civilians.

He told the diplomats who called on him at the presidential palace: "No country wants peace more than Germany. After difficult years of need and suffering, she seeks repose to concentrate all her powers on internal reconstruction and, for her right to live, asks only the same acknowledgement and attention from other countries that Germany itself offered.

"I see no international problems which cannot be solved through understanding and co-operation."

A WINTER VACATION

To the Editor:—Here is a paragraph I think too good to hide. It is from my "home" paper, The Berwick Journal (North of England). I suggest as a title: "Peter on Winter Vacation":

"The following inscription could be seen outside a Methodist chapel in an out-of-the-way Berwickshire county village—'This is the House of God; this is the gate of heaven. Closed during the winter months.'"

THE WINTER SOLSTICE

To the Editor:—During the last few weeks we have read of several earthquakes occurring in different parts of the earth; in Turkey with several villages destroyed, in Honduras with its loss of life, in Italy, in different parts of America, and now a heavy one in Mexico and southern California. As these occur around the time of the winter solstice when the earth in its ellipitical orbit is in perihelion to the sun, and nearer to it by three millions of miles, and hence revolving quicker, the writer is led to ask if any significance can be attached to the earth's proximity to the sun by three millions of mile less at this time of the year, resulting in a greater susceptibility of the earth's surface, particularly that part of the earth's surface which is supposed to have a weak strain. There is no evidence here, for the seismograph may possibly register as many earthquakes in the midsummer months. But as an observer for many years of the recurrence of such events at this particular time of the year, I am curious to know if any significance can be attached to it?

GYRO HAMPER FUND

To the Editor:—The attention of the committee in charge of the recent campaign of the Gyro Christmas Hamper Fund has been drawn to the fact that a number of citizens have received anonymous letters in reference to our efforts. These letters, some of which we have seen, are to say the least cowardly and unkind.

In order that our stand in connection with the whole campaign may be made clear to the public may I definitely state that these letters did not come from any official source connected in any way with our organization or from any individual working on the various committees.

Throughout the entire period of our activities it has been our aim to be at all times courteous and friendly in our dealings with the public and we much regret that the actions of outside individuals have created impressions of a kind that are detrimental to the spirit of Christmas charity which we have strived so hard to uphold.

Each and every communication that went forward from our office was written on the stationery specially provided for the purpose, bearing the name of the Gyro Club as well as that of the campaign and in all cases the signature of the writer was endorsed thereon.

OUCH!

I'm grunting more than I used to do.
Time was that Jane could come kerslap
With a hoppity-skip plump into my lap,
And never a yip
Would I let slip
But, land o' mercy, I'm telling you
My rollocking, romping days are through.

Time was I could take it with downright glee,
But I notice now that I'm grunting more
And when Janet leaps from the parlor floor
With plop and plap
Right onto my lap
It's not just the same as it used to be
For she knocks the wind right out o' me.

I wouldn't say, though I'm fifty-four
That I'm sort of a stern old chap
Who won't let children jump onto his lap.
I only know
When it happens so,
And there comes the leap I'm not looking for,
I seem to be grunting, more and more.

FURNACES BUSY IN LAKE AREA

Ship Owners on Great Lakes Confident of Big Year in 1935

Canadian Press

Cleveland, Jan. 2.—An optimistic [illegible] of industrial revival flashes across the sky in [illegible] from scores of blast furnaces in the lower Lakes area as vessel owners close their books on the 1934 navigation season and prepare for business next spring.

Lake port industrial sites, cloaked with the blackness of night for many months, are bathed again in a rosy glow as steel plants increase operations and additional blast furnaces are started.

Ore stocks are dwindling and vessel owners are confident that surplus stocks will be reduced enough to insure an ore movement of at least 30,000,000 tons in 1935.

Indications point to a movement of at least 32,000,000 tons of bituminous coal next year, according to marine men who also believe shipments of other commodities will record increases.

The ore movement for the season totalled 22,249,600 tons against 21,617,960 tons in 1933, but fell far short of the normal movements of between 50,000,000 and 60,000,000 tons annually.

The Proof of Canada's Progress

SOME FACTS AND FIGURES

1 Though ranking but twenty-eighth in point of population, Canada has consolidated her position as fifth among the great exporting nations of the world. For the first eleven months of 1934—as compared with the corresponding period of 1933—the total merchandise trade of Canada increased in value by $221,000,000, or 26 per cent.

2 During the same period the merchandise exports of Canada increased by $111,000,000, as compared with 1933, and imports by $109,000,000, whilst the balance of trade in 1934 (eleven months) was favourable to the extent of $124,000,000, a gain of $4,000,000 over 1933. This is exclusive of a net balance of $83,000,000 of exports of bullion, nearly all newly-mined Canadian gold.

3 In the first ten months of 1934, Canadian exports to foreign countries increased by $29,000,000, over the similar period of 1933, and Canadian exports to Empire countries increased by $78,000,000.

4 Manufacturing output in 1934 shows a big gain both in volume and value over 1933. The index of industrial production showed a gain of 19 per cent for the ten-month period ending October 31, 1934 over the corresponding months of 1933. Output of pig iron and steel more than doubled; newsprint output registered a gain of 29 per cent; construction increased by nearly 40 per cent; output of cars and trucks by 86 per cent; tires by 34 per cent; consumption of electrical power reached a new high point in the history of the industry; and gains were recorded in almost every important branch of productive activity.

5 The volume of mineral production reached a new high peak in 1934, with a gain over 1933 of nearly 20 per cent. In 1932, Canada's mineral output was valued at $191,000,000; in 1933 at $221,000,000; while in 1934 it will exceed $260,000,000. Coal produced in Canada during 1934 shows an increase of nearly 20 per cent over 1933.

6 Lumber exports in 1934 show tremendous increases, a gain of 90 per cent being registered over 1933. Under the Empire trade agreements, exports to British countries have increased from 342,000,000 feet in 1932 to 653,000,000 feet in 1933, and to possibly 1,000,000,000 feet in 1934. (The exports for the first ten month of the year show a total of 892,000,000 feet). Exports to foreign countries, other than the United States, have also increased. The pulp and paper industry has resumed, in 1934, production on almost a normal scale, which, in itself, has provided employment for thousands of additional men in the woods and in the mills. The production of newsprint during the first ten months of the year exceeded that of any previous year, excepting 1929. The total value of pulp and paper exports during 1934 is expected to show an increase of $14,000,000 over 1933.

7 The estimated value of the field crops of Canada for 1934 is the highest since 1930, and exceeds the 1933 value by $113,000,000. The high quality of the Dominion field crops and livestock has again been notably demonstrated at the recent Chicago International Exhibition, when Canadian exhibitors won 17 championships and 32 first prizes. The grand championship for Hard Red Spring Wheat—the major award for wheat entries—was again won by the Dominion.

8 During the year 1934, Canada has not experienced a single major industrial disturbance—an impressive indication of the national stability of the Dominion's industrial life. Employment, one of the most vital indices of a country's economic position, showed a gain of 15.9 per cent during 1934. Compared with a year ago, 92,191 employees have been added to the pay-rolls of the firms reporting, whose numbers have increased by some 500.

9 As a basic indication of industrial and agricultural activity, freight movement in 1934 registered a considerably higher level than in 1933. Car loadings showed a gain, for the first ten months of 1934, of 16 per cent as compared with a similar period of 1933, nine of the eleven commodity groups showing increases.

10 Total ordinary revenue for the Dominion in the first eight months of 1934 (fiscal year) amounted to $245,062,540 as against a total of $216,902,271 for the corresponding period of 1933—an increase of $28,160,269. For this same period, there is a surplus of ordinary revenue over ordinary expenditure of $1,604,449.

11 Gross postage collections in the first ten months of 1934, amounted to $1,213,560 more than in the corresponding period of 1933; this is indicative of increasing business.

AS THE YEAR 1934 passes into history, Canada can look back upon a period of unimpaired progress so definitely sustained that it has brought us to the pathway that leads to a sound, sensible, and stable prosperity. The advance that we, as a country, have made during the past year has demonstrated anew the inherent strength and stability of the Dominion. We have seen the faith to which we held so firmly in the darker days abundantly fulfilled—the confidence to which we clung in gloomier years triumphantly vindicated. With clearer skies above us, and with firmer ground beneath our feet, we have advanced with unimpeded progress along the road of national reconstruction and economic recuperation. It is at once a tribute and a testimony to the courage of the Canadian people that, to-day, Canada marches in the vanguard of the nations in their pilgrimage toward prosperity.

Throughout the past year, the pulse of our business life has grown stronger day by day. Canadian industry, through all its multitudinous channels, has felt the urge of a resurgent activity. The process of production has been steadily accelerated to meet an intensified demand for Canadian commodities, and, throughout the Dominion, our manufacturing plants have experienced a sustained activity that often challenged their capacity. Our international trade, so vital to the economic welfare of the nation, has seen an almost spectacular increase in volume and in value, and the trade agreements which have been effected between Canada and other parts of the Empire, as well as with twenty-five other nations throughout the world, have opened up new avenues of distribution, with ever-widening potentialities of business, for the products of Canadian farms, forests, and fisheries, mines and manufactories. And it is a significant fact—as well as a symbol of our progress—that employment in Canada has reached, to-day, a higher level than that of any month since the upward trend began.

Encouraged by the progress we have made, cheered by the brighter days we now encounter, sustained by the courage and the confidence which upheld us through the darker years, we can face, unafraid, the problems of the future. As a united people—yet each in his own place and endeavor—let us advance together to further heights of national achievement. Thus shall the great destiny of Canada be fulfilled, and all her people find happiness in the days to be.

Minister

DEPARTMENT OF TRADE AND COMMERCE
OTTAWA · CANADA

January 1st, 1935

The Department of Trade and Commerce exists to serve you

USE THE SERVICES IT PROVIDES

The Department now maintains thirty-four Trade Commissioners in strategic centres throughout the world—fourteen of them within the Empire. These Commissioners, who devote their entire time to the furtherance of Canada's industrial interests abroad, are selected by examination from Canadian university graduates, and specially trained to undertake the work they have to do as Canada's trade representatives abroad. Their duties are to increase the export trade of Canada; to link up the Canadian exporter with the foreign importer; to study conditions and needs of the territories where they are located; to make direct enquiries or conduct preliminary surveys regarding the potential market for any product, reporting the exact kinds of goods wanted, competition to be met, and the best methods of packing, shipping and billing. Their services are always at the disposal of firms and individuals interested in Canada's trade expansion.

All trade developments the world over are being constantly reported by these Commissioners to the Commercial Intelligence Section of the Department of Trade and Commerce, Ottawa. This information is always available, and enquiries from Canadian manufacturers, and others interested, on any phase of export trade are welcomed.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics, which operates under the Department of Trade and Commerce, supplies an analytical survey of statistics which forms the background of practically all industrial enterprise in Canada. The Bureau maintains this continuous analysis of facts and figures, constantly up to date, its numerous publications covering every important phase of the Dominion's growth or development, week by week, month by month, year by year. Its "Monthly Review of Business Statistics" is a particularly valuable analysis from the business man's standpoint. The Canada Year Book, which is published by the Bureau, is possibly the most valuable compendium of information on the business of Canada, viewed from every possible standpoint, that can be obtained; it is the text book of Canadian economic progress.

Other activities of the Department of Trade and Commerce include: the constant study of world tariffs and their application to Canadian trade; the inspection of gas and electrical appliances; the subsidizing of steamship services towards the development of new markets; the advertising of the Dominion by motion picture films, by pictorial matter and by written copy; the grading and weighing of our wheat crops; the popularizing of Canadian products in the markets of Great Britain and elsewhere through the work of its Exhibition Commission in co-operation with its Publicity Branch; and a great many other services calculated to expand internal and external commerce.

CANADIANS IN HONORS LIST

that go to Dominions. A total of twenty-two memberships in the British Empire Order go to the Dominions, and of these Canada has sixteen.

Eight Canadian women are honored by the King for medical, educational and public services.

BRITISH HONORS

Of major interest in the British Isles are the three new peerages, namely:

Rt. Hon. Sir Henry Betterton, former Minister of Labor and now chairman of the Unemployment Assistance Board; Sir Thomas Fermor-Hesketh, for political and public services in Lancashire, and Lieut.-Col. Sir Wyndham Portal, for public services.

The five new baronets are Col. The Marquis of Clydesdale, who flew over Mount Everest in 1933, receives the Air Force Cross. Sir MacPherson Robertson, who promoted the London-to-Melbourne air race, receives the K.B.E.

The list includes no honors for men in political life in Canada. There have been no recommendations of that character from Premier Bennett since he received the custom.

ST. JOHN ORDER

E. W. Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and Sir William Clark, former United Kingdom High Commissioner to Canada, were appointed knights of grace of the Order of the Hospital of St. John of Jerusalem. The order, conferred on persons of both sexes, is given for services in the cause of humanity throughout the empire, but carries no title or rank.

Apart from his high legal attainments, Chief Justice Andrew Cheisholm of Nova Scotia, who becomes a Knight Bachelor, attained prominence through his contributions to the literature of his native province. Called to the bar in 1886, he was created a King's Counsel in 1907, and appointed a justice of the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia in 1916. In June, 1931, he was made chief justice. In 1891 he married Frances Alice Affleck, who died in 1903.

Col. Albert Edward Gooderham, who becomes a Knight Commander of St. Michael and St. George, was born in Toronto June 2, 1861, built up a great fortune through his many business activities, and has spent a great proportion of it in patriotic and philanthropic enterprises. He entered his father's distilling business as a junior, and subsequently played a large part in several other Canadian business interests.

Charles William Lindsay, named a Knight of the British Empire, came to Canada as a youthful Scottish immigrant seeking his fortune in the new land. He was in Canada only a short time when, at the age of twenty, he became totally blind. Undaunted by this almost overwhelming setback, the young man became a piano tuner, and was soon self-supporting. Seeing the possibilities in the piano business, young Lindsay soon branched out into the manufacture of these instruments, and built up the biggest business of that type in Canada. The erstwhile immigrant boy became a millionaire and one of the leading philanthropists of his day.

FARM LEADER

Sometimes called "the Moses of the Alberta farmers," Henry Wise Wood, who becomes a Companion of the Order of St. Michael and St. George, is perhaps the most outstanding figure, politically and economically, the agrarian movement on the prairies has produced. Until his retirement from the presidency of the United Farmers of Alberta in 1931, he was the recognized mouthpiece of the aspiring agrarian movement in his province.

HONOR FOR FARMERS

Calgary, Jan. 2. — "I don't know what I have done to warrant such an honor," Henry Wise Wood, father of the United Farmers of Alberta and moving genius behind the Wheat Pool, said when he was informed he had been made a Companion of the Order of St. Michael and St. George in the King's New Year's honors list.

"The honor, I am certain, should be bestowed on my co-workers as much as on myself, and I hope they understand the honor thus bestowed on me by His Majesty is really the appreciation of the nation, not only for the part I have played in the Wheat Pool, but for the splendid work all those associated with me have done in an effort deemed to benefit the great agricultural industry of western Canada and therefore the country as a whole."

Mr. Wood said the announcement had come as a pleasant surprise to him.

DAVID SPENCER LIMITED

F. A. Keill New Vancouver Sheriff

Francis A. Keill, of the law firm of Hancox and Keill, will be the next sheriff of Vancouver, it was learned to-day at the Parliament Buildings.

Mr. Keill will succeed the late George W. Robertson in the position. Mr. Robertson, who was appointed in June of last year, died during Christmas week.

Noisy New Year Welcome Given

Nanaimo, Jan. 2.—Despite inclement weather, the New Year was ushered in at Nanaimo with the usual festivities. Practically all hotels, cafes and dance halls staged celebrations for their patrons. Dynamite blasts, rifle shots and blowing of sirens greeted 1935.

One accident was reported to the police. Two cars collided on Comox Road, with little damage. The occupants escaped with minor bruises.

There was only one "boarder" at the local police station following the festivities.

Arthur Newberry, manager of the Western Fuel Coal Company, received a communication from the Hon. George S. Pearson, Minister of Mines, on New Year's Day, congratulating him on completing 1934 without any fatal accidents at the Western Fuel Mine.

The Mutual Life of Canada

CLOSES 65 YEARS OF STEADY GROWTH

During the past sixty-five years there have been in our national life periods of great prosperity and of economic stress, years of war and peace, of epidemics and unusually good health, crop failures and abundant harvests. Throughout these years the Mutual Life of Canada has steadily grown from a group of five hundred policyholders in 1870 to a group of over 141,000 at the close of 1934—during this year the number of policyholders increased by over 2,500. At the close of each year the insurance in force has exceeded that of the preceding year.

THERE IS A REASON

Since its inception every dollar of profit has been returned to policyholders as premium refunds, or is held in trust for their benefit, resulting in low net cost insurance. This record combined with a high quality of service has built up this large body of satisfied policyholders.

OWNED BY POLICYHOLDERS

In 65 years the Company has disbursed under Insurance Contracts over . . . $183,000,000

{of which $59,000,000 represents dividends to living policyholders}

There are many evidences that the pendulum is swinging towards better times. We hope that all parts of Canada will share in this general improvement.

WINNERS OF SHORT STORY CONTEST

Miss Anne Marriott Wins Authors' Association First Prize

Announcement is made of the winners in the short-story contest sponsored by the Victoria and Islands Branch, Canadian Authors' Association.

Miss Anne Marriott, 310 Irving Road, Victoria, wins first prize with her fine story, "The Cradle." Miss Marriott won third prize in the same contest last year, and has since won an honorable mention in a Dominion-wide poetry competition arranged by the Montreal Branch C.A.A., and a second prize in another poetry contest sponsored by the Dominion Canadian Authors' Association. Miss Marriott is not a member of the C.C.A., so was eligible to enter the local competition.

The winner of the second prize is a boy—the first boy ever to win in any contest arranged by the local club—R. M. O. McMinn of 1128 Empress Avenue, Victoria, who wrote a very clever nature story, "One Night." Tieing with this story, for second place, in the opinion of the judges, was "Another Journey's End," by Miss Gladys Evans of Bamfield, B.C., but as Miss Evans sent the story in under her own name, thus violating one of the strict rules of the contest, she was not eligible for the prize. However, in view of the high quality of this entry, the donor of the first prize is giving her a special prize of $2.50.

A good piece of humorous writing was sent in by Miss Sheila Conway. This was not, strictly speaking, a short story; and, in any case, as it was more than twice the stipulated length, it could not be considered.

The five stories winning honorable mention were, in the order as printed: "'Twas the Night Before Christmas," by Anna Clendenan, 1336 Johnston Street; "The Ancestor's Ring," by Beatrice M. Ball, 625 Admiral's Road; "The Fugitive," by Malcolm Keith Lorimer, R.R. 2, Victoria; "Back To the Land and Hope," by Madeline Percy, 1037 Pinder Road; and "Fulfilment," by Violet Page, Box 412, Duncan.

VICTORIA W.I. TO HOLD SOCIAL

The Victoria Women's Institute will hold its first social of the year on Friday at 2.30 p.m. in the headquarters, 625 Fort Street. A special programme is being prepared and it is hoped all institute members and their friends will attend. On Thursday afternoon, January 10, a bridge party will be held, to which members and friends will be welcomed.

DUNCAN GIRL WED ABROAD

Miss Dorothy Hogan Marries Mr. Sydney Watney in London

On December 1 at All Souls' Church, Langham Place, London, England, the marriage took place of Dorothy Margaret Hunt Hogan, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. Hunt Hogan of Quamichan Lake, Duncan, and Sydney Arthur Norman Watney, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Watney of Acrayse Place, Folkstone, Kent, England.

The bride looked very lovely in a gown of white velvet, with long train of velvet lined with silver and a long tulle veil and bouquet of arum lilies. She was given in marriage by Mr. A. Griffith, an old family friend. Her bridesmaids were the groom's three sisters, the Misses Watney, and the bride's sister, Miss Phoebe Hogan, were gowned alike in red velvet. Mr. O. Watney, the bridegroom's brother, acted as best man.

After the ceremony a reception was held at Hans Crescent Hotel, Chelsea, where Mrs. Hogan received the guests, wearing a gown of tomato-color silk crepe.

After a honeymoon spent at Bournemouth, the newly married couple will reside at Calthorpe Farm, Leicestershire, England, where Mr. Watney maintains a large mixed farm.

Among the guests at the wedding were Mrs. Fall, Mrs. Y. Birley, Squadron-Leader J. Fall and Mrs. J. Fall, Mrs. Barry and daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. E. Rochfort-Hyde, all of British Columbia, and many others.

Weddings

BISSELL—HANNAY

At Christ Church Cathedral yesterday evening at 8 o'clock, Rev. T. R. Lancaster united in marriage Victoria, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Hannay, of Port Alberni, to George Claude Bissell, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Bissell, 124 St. Andrew's Street, Victoria, in the presence of immediate relatives only.

Miss Jean Drysdale attended the bride and Mr. Daryl Bissell supported his brother.

After the ceremony an informal reception was held at the home of the bridegroom's parents, many friends tendering felicitations and good wishes to the young people.

Mr. and Mrs. Bissell left later for Vancouver en route for Port Alberni, where they will make their home.

JESSIMAN—COSH

The marriage took place Saturday evening, at the home of the officiating minister, Rev. W. G. Wilson, D.D., Pemberton Road, of Jean, daughter of the late Mr. Cosh and Mrs. F. Cosh, of Menzies Street, to Mr. Norman J. Jessiman, son of Mr. and Mrs Alex. Jessiman of Vancouver.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. John Jones, and wore a powder blue tunic frock with touches of silver trimming, and a black felt hat and nose veil. Her corsage bouquet was of carnations. She was attended by her twin sister, Miss Betty Cosh, in a flame and brown tunic frock and corsage bouquet of pink carnations, and by Miss Joyce Jessiman in blue. Mr. Bert Fenton was best man.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Cosh wearing a green frock and brown felt hat, and the groom's mother, who assisted Mrs. Cosh in receiving, wore a dress of black and gold and hat to match. The bride and groom left on the midnight boat for Vancouver, and will make their home at 76 Menzies Street.

HENDSON—HAYNES

In the presence of many guests the marriage was solemnized at St. Mark's Church on New Year's Eve of Irene Augusta (Betty), only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Haynes, 267 Battleford Avenue, and Mr. William Henson, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J Henson of Ruddington, Nottingham, England.

The service was performed by Rev. O. L. Jull, and Mrs. Moore presided at the organ and accompanied Miss Constance Barlow, who sang "Love's Demand," as the register was being signed.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a model, form-fitting gown of white satin, buttoned down the back, the long sleeves ended with tiny buttons. Her veil was worn with a wreath of orange blossoms, and she carried a sheaf of Calla lilies, maidenhair fern and sprigs of white heather, which had been sent from Aberdeen by friends.

Miss Ruby McGrucher was maid of honor, in pale pink satin, the bodice finished with a shoulder cape, and a pale blue sash and trimmed on one shoulder with a knot of blue flowers. She wore a pink picture hat trimmed with a pearl ornament.

The bridesmaid was Miss Winnifred Rogers, cousin of the bride, in a frock of blush pink net, frilled from the knees to the floor, with frilled cape sleeves. She wore a matching picture hat trimmed with a pearl motif. They both carried sheaves of pale pink chrysanthemums and carnations. Mr. Samuel Henson supported his brother, and acting as ushers were Mr. Arthur Hicks and Mr. F. P. Rogers.

A reception was held later in the Sons of England Hall, which was gay with Christmas decorations. The guests were received by the bride's parents, assisted by Mrs. J. Henson Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Henson are spending their honeymoon on the mainland, the bride going away in a costume of navy blue. They will make their home in Saanich on their return.

Among the many gifts was a silver chafing dish from the management of the City Dye Works, where the bride had been employed, and a silver rose bowl from her associates on the staff.

Daughters of St. George—Daughters of St. George, Victoria Lodge No. 83, will hold their regular meeting in the S.O.E. Hall this evening. Officers and guards will meet at 7 o'clock for drill practice.

Gay Revels Mark Passing Of Old Year Into New

Crowds on Streets and at Public and Private Parties Celebrated New Year's Eve in Traditional Fashion

The Old Year was relegated to the limbo of forgotten things, and the New Year hailed with a wealth of promise and a bumper sowing of good resolutions by revellers at many public and private parties on Monday evening.

The promise of improving conditions in 1935 seemed to lend a greater fillip than ever to the celebration, and on the stroke of midnight sirens screeched, horns tooted, and noise-makers from the crowds gathered on the downtown streets added to the din as greetings were exchanged with traditional fervour.

AT EMPRESS HOTEL

New Year revels at the Empress Hotel were conceived on a colossal scale, eclipsing all previous celebrations in brilliance, conviviality and magnitude.

About 1,000 guests had the time of their lives, two ballrooms and two complete orchestras being required for the entertainment of this vast assemblage of merrymakers. The augmented hotel orchestra, under the direction of Wm. Tickle, played in the ballroom, while Les. Crane of Vancouver and his orchestra were stationed in the dining-room, which was converted into a ballroom for the occasion.

At midnight a spectacular fan dance by Ruth Van Vallee of Seattle, and a winter ballet and toboggan dance by Ian Gibson and Thelma Stratford, assisted by Kathleen Gregson, Hilda Jacques, Isabel McAlpine, Winifred Fallick, Lulu Bond, Evelyn Fishlock, Helen Beck, Kathleen Mann and Frances Borde, in white and silver Russian costumes, greeted the dawn of the New Year.

Other striking dances given during the evening included solos by Miss Van Vallee and Miss Berna Waring.

REVELLERS HOSTS

Over 400 guests gathered at the Colwood Golf and Country Club where the Revellers were hosts at a gay party. Seasonable decorations added to the attractive setting, and at midnight hundreds of balloons were released from the ceiling and favors of all kinds and noise-makers were distributed to the guests.

A six-piece orchestra from Seattle, with Conway Ryan as soloist, supplied the music to which the Revellers danced until well into the dawn.

AT YACHT CLUB

A giant clock erected in the ballroom indicated the midnight hour to the many guests who gathered at the Royal Victoria Yacht Club, always a popular rendezvous on New Year's Eve, and as its hands pointed to the witching hour a gong sounded, which was succeeded by the hilarious exchange of greetings and good wishes for 1935.

Under the direction of the committee, the rooms were beautifully decorate with Christmas greenery balloons and flowers, the supper-room, where the guests sat at long tables, being attractively arranged with chrysanthemums of all shades.

CRYSTAL GARDEN

The Crystal Garden drew another large throng of merry-makers, about 300 ushering in the New Year with the assistance of favors, noise-makers and serpentine. A six-piece orchestra supplied the music until a late hour. Both dance floors were used. Festive decorations added to the attractive appearance of the garden.

At the Elks Club, about 200 assembled to welcome the New Year in traditional style. Serpentines, hats, noise-makers and balloons were distributed during the dance, which was arranged by the house committee. A four-piece orchestra supplied the music until a late hour, and a buffet supper was served continuously from 11.30 p.m. to 3.30 a.m.

The Beach Hotel was again the scene of a jolly "no host" party arranged by a committee including Len Woodhouse, Frank H. Partridge, H. E. Gouldbourn, A. E. James, Sam Winterbottom, Jim Williams, Bill Burnett and Ed Rowebottom, this being the fifth New Year's Eve party under these auspices.

Zala's orchestra provided the music for dancing. Mr. W. Holmes and Mr. W. Anderson contributed violin and concertina duets which were enthusiastically received, Frank Partridge singing the incidental solos to their numbers.

Supper commenced at 11.20 p.m. and on the stroke of 12 a specially-prepared banner was unfurled with a flourish wishing everyone present a happy New Year, when pandemonium reigned and dancing continued at 12.15 p.m. During the supper, Mr. R. W. Murdock expressed sincere thanks on behalf of the guests to the hard-working committee and Mrs. McDougall, manageress of the hotel, was presented with a bouquet of flowers in appreciation of her splendid co-operation with the committee. The party broke up at 3 a.m. The theme song for the evening was "We're All Pals Together."

Glorifying Yourself

By ALICIA HART

Good posture is the first requisite not only of a beautiful figure but true beauty itself. The woman who stands correctly—head high, chin in, chest uplifted and backbone in a straight line—is sure to be a better picture of loveliness than one who slumps forward in graceless manner.

If you are not sure whether or not your posture is correct, make this test. Stand about one foot away from a flat wall—heels together. Lean backward until your neck touches the wall. Press your spinal column against the flat surface until you can feel all the vertebrae, except the last three of four, touch it.

Notice there is no curve in your back when you stand this way, no lump between shoulder blades and that your stomach is extremely flat. If you are extremely uncomfortable while holding this correct position, the chances are your posture is bad.

Here is an exercise that will eliminate an exaggerated hollow in your back, teach you how to hold your stomach in and make you look much more slender.

Lie flat on the floor with arms at the sides and knees bent so that weight of the legs is on the balls of the feet. Raise the tip of the spine from the floor, pushing the centre of it downward. See that your neck and all your backbone, except the very end of it, are perfectly straight. Hold the position ten seconds, relax, and then repeat. Do this simple exercise ten times a day until you get into the habit of standing with stomach in and hips carried forward.

To Have The Best Cough Remedy, Mix It At Home

Quicker Relief. Big Saving! So Easy! No Cooking!

This famous recipe is used by millions of housewives, because there is no other way to obtain such a dependable, effective cough remedy. It's so simple to mix—a child could do it.

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex, a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, famous for its healing effect on throat and bronchial membranes.

Then make a syrup by stirring two cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. It's no trouble at all, and takes but a moment. No cooking needed.

Put the Pinex into a 16 oz. bottle and add your syrup. This gives you 16 ounces of cough remedy, far superior to anything you could buy ready-made, and you get four times as much for your money. It never spoils, and is very pleasant—children love it.

You'll be amazed by the way it takes hold of severe coughs, giving quick, lasting relief. It soothes and heals the inflamed membranes, loosens the germ-laden phlegm, and clears the air passages. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

GOV.-GENERAL HELD LEVEE

Nearly 700 Attended New Year's Eve Reception in Ottawa

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Jan. 2.—Nearly 700 attended the annual New Year's Day levee of the Governor-General held in the hall of fame of the Parliament Buildings yesterday. It was the fourth of such receptions held by the Earl of Bessborough since coming to Ottawa in April, 1931, as representative of King George.

Informality characterized the reception again as in recent years. His Excellency shook hands cordially with each caller. During the reception Robert J. Donnell, acting Carilloneur, rendered selections from the Peace Tower.

First to pay respects to the Governor-General were Prime Minister R. B. Bennett and Viscount Duncannon, elder son of His Excellency, after which they took up positions to the left of the Governor-General. Presentation of others prominent in the life of the Dominion followed.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

DRIED PEAS AND BEANS MUST BE COOKED LONG

By MARY E. DAGUE

Mrs. Roosevelt served Hopping John at the White House not long ago and immediately everybody in the country started buying black-eyed peas. I hope that a lot of people found out how good they are and will keep on serving them. For they save money, they add proteins to the diet and, above all, savorily seasoned, they make the best kind of eating.

Of course, the dried pea, bean and lentil family have come down in the world a bit recently with word from the laboratory that they are incomplete protein foods and must be supplemented by egg, cheese and milk. All the same, they fill an important niche for phosphorus in good-sized quantities.

Long, slow cooking is imperative to soften the tough fibre and make dried legumes palatable. When served to small children they should also be rubbed through a sieve.

You have probably often baked the navy bean, but did you ever serve the lima the same way? If not, try it for luncheon some cold January noon with hearts of celery for a relish (there is a dish for you!) and prune and almond Bavarian cream to follow.

BAKED LIMA BEANS

Two cups dried lima beans, ½ teaspoon soda, two sweet green peppers, 4 thin slices bacon, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 cup canned tomatoes, 1 cup hot water, ½ teaspoon salt.

Pick over and wash beans. Cover with cold water and let stand over night. Drain from water, cover with fresh cold water and bring to the boiling point. Simmer five minutes and add soda. Let simmer one minute longer. Drain and rinse in cold water. Put a layer of beans in a baking dish, sprinkle with shredded pepper and two slices of bacon cut in tiny squares. Continue until all the beans are used. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and pour over hot water and tomatoes. Bake in a slow oven (300 degrees F.) for four hours.

PRUNE AND ALMOND BAVARIAN

One-half pound prunes, 1 orange, 1½ tablespoons granulated gelatine, ¾ cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons chopped almonds, 1 cup whipping cream.

Wash prunes thoroughly and cover with two cups cold water. Let stand over night. In the morning simmer in the same water until tender, adding the yellow rind of the orange pared very thin. Drain prune from juice and cool. Soften gelatine in four tablespoons cooled juice. Add with sugar to one cup hot prune juice and stir over heat without boiling until gelatine is dissolved. Add one-half cup stoned and chopped prunes, juice of orange, almonds and salt. Stir over ice water until mixture begins to thicken. Then fold in cream whipped until firm. Decorate a mold with prunes, replacing the stones with blanched almonds and pour in gelatine mixture. Let stand on ice for several hours until chilled and firm. Unmold and serve with remaining prunes which have been stoned.

TO-MORROW'S MENU

Breakfast: Chilled tomato juice with lemon juice, cereal, cream, hash, cornmeal muffins, milk, coffee.

Luncheon: Baked lima beans, hearts of celery, Boston brown bread, prune and almond Bavarian cream, milk, tea.

Dinner: Veal roast with stuffed onions, molded spinach, creamed Jerusalem artichokes, rice souffle, milk, coffee.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

BABIES DON'T NEED A CIRCUS TO BE ENTERTAINED

Mothers do not worry about those hours in baby's day when they are doing something for the baby.

But let baby lie awake for half an hour, with nothing being done for him, and they become jittery waiting for the cry they expect to ensue.

How will they entertain him, how keep him satisfied with the tedium of living when he isn't actively engaged in eating or sleeping or being bathed?

NO PACIFIERS

Babies do not need a three-ring circus going on about them. They do not need someone to sing to them or talk to them or dandle them on knees or jiggle them up and down in order to endure their unoccupied wakeful hours. They do not need something in their mouths to fool them into the belief that they are eating.

Yet mothers in general cultivate the belief that babies have to be entertained, or else they will cry.

The giving of pacifiers is one of those ways in which some parents attempt to keep the baby entertained. Here is a baby who at birth weighed six and one-half pounds and now at three months weighs more than twelve pounds.

A CHANGE OF SCENERY

"To keep my baby quiet I let him suck on an empty nipple stuffed with a handkerchief so he will not get air. Do you think this will deform his mouth and teeth? He is constipated and I give him a laxative every day. Now his bowels will not move unless I give this. What would you advise me to do?"

Since he is well fed he could be happy without all this useless attention. Change his position frequently when he is awake. Change him from bed to couch or to the floor, well protected from draughts. Give him new scenes to look at and take the pacifier away. He should not have this in his mouth every wakeful moment.

DON'T USE LAXATIVES

It depends, of course, upon his general condition, the amount of time he uses the pacifier and the vigor with which he sucks upon it whether the result will be a change in the structure of the mouth and teeth. I would not risk it.

Do nothing about the constipation, except to keep his diet correct and his gain constant. You may have leaflets, "Constipation" and "Diet from Two to Nine Months," if you will send a self-addressed, stamped enveloped and ask for them. Address Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of the "Your Baby and Mine" department of this newspaper.

There is more harm in giving laxatives constantly than there is in letting baby go twenty-four or more hours without a movement. Nature is usually successful if undisturbed.

Blonde Goddess

– A New Serial –

By HERBERT JENSEN

The high priest's glance examined Ortega coldly.

"Senor Ortega," he said softly in his slurring Spanish. "Has it occurred to you that your usefulness in this matter is ended? In fact, I am wondering about your future worth to us."

"What do you mean?" Don Raoul mostened his lips.

"Yesterday a runner from Merida told me that the revolution has ended, unsuccessfully. There is a reward offered by the new governor for your capture.

"I do not care for the money offered," he continued, contemptuously, "but it seems that your services have no value to us now." Ah-kin's voice became brittle. "Take care, man. Cama-zotz is a thirsty god, and your heart would be as acceptable as those of these others."

Ortega stepped back into the shadows. As the group filed out of the doorway, his big figure seemed queerly shrunken.

Greene mopped his forehead. "Whew!" he exclaimed. "I'm wringing wet. I wonder if I've got fever. Between that big slob Ortega making me hot, and that wicked-looking priest giving me the chills, I shouldn't wonder. What all went on? I didn't get half of it."

Frank considered. He wondered if he should tell Janice's press-agent all the implications. The little fellow had proved his courage. He was a little ashamed of his former annoyance with him in Hollywood.

Hollywood! How remote it seemed. He decided to explain the situation to Greene in every aspect. Two heads are needed to pool every scrap of information that might be of possible value to them in their extremity.

While Greene was excitable, the chance of his flying off the handle must be taken. He said in as light a tone as he could muster:

"Got your notebook, Greene? This is the hottest stuff you've ever heard."

Greene sighed. "I wish I had it at that, only—". He studied the bars of the window. "—Myberg probably wouldn't let me use it if I could."

Despite himself Frank smiled slightly. The little press agent's obsession labelled him an artist.

He spoke to Green primarily to inform him of the circumstances and also to piece together and clarify the bits of information that were swarming in his own mind.

"We're in a bad spot, Greene," he began. "I'm amazed at just about everything I've seen and heard. The people on the coast call these interior Indians sublevados. Unconquered fellows.

"But they've always been reported as a friendly, ignorant lot so long as they were let alone. Occasionally they drift to the coast with blocks of chicle—chewing gum—and haven't gained any particular reputation for ferocity.

"Did you notice some of them were nearly white? The old Spanish strain is persistent. That guard, for instance, that brought the water had ruddy hair.

"Some of them have come into the cities and have been absorbed by the modern way of living. A fellow told me once that some, even, had gone to the States to be educated, but like our own Indians, they generally drift back to the jungle and lapse into the old ways.

"It just shows you what dynamite will do if somebody provides a fuse to touch it off. This Ahkin for instance. He was the same one I saw run away from the automobile the night Spin Winslow and I caught up with Janice—. By the way, why wasn't Spin along on this trip?"

"His arm was still on the fritz," Greene explained. "He may come later. I dunno. Too late to do us any good."

"You've read up on the archeology business. When the Spaniards arrived in this country the natives were sacrificing, they say, twenty thousand young men and women a year in Mexico City alone on their altars.

"Something like that is evidently going on here."

"Pleasant," muttered Greene. "I read where they took them to a cliff brink and threw them off." His lips were a little pale. "I don't like high places. I've never been in an airplane in my life."

"This ahkin—ahkin is evidently a title, not a name—" continued Frank, "is doubtlessly the dynamite fuse in this locality. He must be quite a man. The jungle is all cleaned up and the old temples reconstructed better than the Peabody people have done at Chichen Itza. But did you notice his eyes? He's mad. Mad as a [illegible]."

"Yeah. What-a-man," interrupted Greene wearily. "Supposing we catch some shut-eye? They going to hurt Janice?"

Frank turned his head into the shadow.

"I thought so," said little Mr. Greene. "Listen Frank, and remember this: You did a foolish thing on the temple top the other night. If you get a break—any kind of a break—forget me. Forget me, will you? Take Janice and get out of this place! Good night. I'm going to sleep and think about having our throats cut. Pleasant dreams."

Grahame slept fitfully, his rest harried by fantastic visions. His shoulder wound had begun to heal and it itched excruciatingly. As the moon sailed higher it threw its beams against their prison. The rays filtered through the two openings in the walls above him. He heard Greene tossing.

Finally he must have slept a little. He came awake suddenly, as a dog awakes, senses alert but with body motionless. Some sound, he could have sworn, had broken his rest. Greene was breathing deeply but with the regularity of the slumberer.

He placed his feet upon the floor, and with eyelids widened, strove to pierce with his gaze the darkness that blanketed their cell except for the two silver patches of moonlight, that stabbing through the windows, sprawled one upon the wall, one upon the floor.

Across the moon-patch on the floor, gridironed with the shadows of the window bars, a faint grey tracery seemed to wriggle toward him.

In an instant he was upon his feet and stepped softly toward the centre of the cell. His toe touched an object; he stooped and picked it up. It was a stone, the size of a large walnut. Tied to it was a strong white cord that lay along the floor of the wall, then up and out of the window opening!

He tugged gently upon it. Immediately there was an answering double pull! He drew the cord toward him without further resistance, watching the window. There was a flicker of white at the sill, and with a faint plop, a paper, rolled like a scroll, fell at his feet.

His fingers trembled slightly as he untied the string that secured it. He unrolled the paper and found that it was a message of some kind pencilled in Spanish. He held it to the faint light. It was addressed to himself, beginning with the elaborate salutation of Spanish punctilio, "Muy estimado senor, y mi amigo Don Francisco Grahame. . . ."

It was signed Juan Piedra—the lad who by this time, had he escaped the search parties, should have been well upon his way to the coast!

CHAPTER XXXIII

Frank scanned the message quickly, a new hope rising tumultuously in his breast. He awakened his companion. In a low voice he read the note aloud, translating roughly into English.

"Get this Greene: 'Very estimable sir, and my friend: the talk within the city is that you and another man and a lady are to be sacrificed to Yum-Chac at the pyramid top tomorrow in the morning. It is with little hope I write you, but I have secured the extra pistol and some cartridges from our packs which were in the ahkin's dwelling place.

"'I did not go to the coast, for which please excuse me. I followed you to a small ruin where you slept. I watched you go into the city and return with the other man and the beautiful lady.'

"I heard the young rascal. Thought it was a lizard." There was a tightness in his throat as he chuckled at Juan's naive compliment to Janice's beauty.

"He says also, 'I saw these sublevados capture you. Excuse me for being of no help. I hoped to come into the city and make effective your release later. This I cannot do as your prison is very well guarded.

"'There is an airplane in the central plaza. There are boxes of gasoline nearby. This knowledge may be of use to you.

"'After you read this, throw the stone out to me and I will tie to it two pistols. Juan Piedra.'"

"Who's Juan Piedra?" asked Greene.

Frank's voice was soft. "A very courageous and loyal young man. A Mexican lad who came with me from the coast."

There was a moisture in Frank's eyes as he tossed the stone through the window opening.

"It's a chance in a thousand," he commented as he drew the cord, heavy with the pistols through the bars. "Thank God for Juan . . . the young idiot. Perhaps, to-morrow, we may make a break, and shoot our way to the ship.

"If we could do that, and stand them off long enough to gas the bus and warm the engine, we might get away. Langton's message on the wall said his landing was okay, so the crate's in good shape anyway. What luck that there's gas. They probably brought it from Merida. Wonder if it's high test?"

Greene asked, "Was this Juan the ace you had up your sleeve when you threatened Ortega that you'd get him if he didn't get Janice out of this?"

Frank shook his head. "Sorry if I raised your hopes on that one. I was bluffing. I just had some idea that I might seal a message and send it out like Billy Langton did. But as soon as I said it I knew it would be practically impossible. Even if I got hold of a bottle and could seal it, chances would be all against any ones finding it as they did Billy's."

He talked swiftly, formulating plan after plan, discarding some as too hopelessly impractical, accepting others as secondary ones, in case the break for the airplane was impossible.

* * *

"Best talk it over," he said, "so we can act upon whatever seems best at the time. At the very worst we die. Get that guy Ortega, Greene, if it's the last thing you do."

"Don't worry," replied Greene, "I'd like to interfere witth that ahkin bimbo too."

"Here . . . see if you can lift me up to the window." Hope gave him strength that had not been his when he attempted to climb that afternoon. Clinging to the bars with his sound arm, he called softly.

"Senor!" Juan's voice came from under the window.

"Is the airplane guarded?"

"No, senor."

"Do you think you could go there and pour one or two cases into the tank? You will find the tank-cap in the hood just back of the engine. Put two or three more cases in the cockpit as far back as you can."

"I will try, senor."

"Good boy, Juan. Don't get caught. It is not that important. Come back here when you are finished and throw two stones through the window. If I throw them back, then I will want to talk with you again. If I do not, then go away from here and don't come back. Make the coast if you can and tell the authorities what you know."

"Bueno, senor. Good."

They waited two hours, fretting with impatience. Just as Grahame had decided that something had happened to the boy, a stone tinkled against a bar in the window and fell into the cell. A moment later another bounced on the floor and rolled across it.

"The kid did it!" exulted Grahame. "Have we anything to say to him before he goes?"

CONSTIPATION ENDED FOREVER

Woman Finds a Permanent Remedy

With perfect frankness a woman correspondent writes:

"I have suffered from constipation as long as I can remember, and taken all sorts of things—which in some cases seemed to do good at first, but afterwards to have no effect. Then I thought I would try Kruschen in my tea every morning, and I have done so for over a year. I am pleased to say after the first month I had no more trouble with constipation, and I have felt very fit."—(Mrs.) G. M. S.

Kruschen Salts is Nature's recipe for maintaining a condition of internal cleanliness. The six salts in Kruschen stimulate the organs of elimination to smooth, regular action. Your system is thus kept clear of those impurities which, if allowed to accumulate, lower the whole tone of the system. (Advt.)

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel."

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 2, 1935

Stars of promise rule to-day, according to astrology. It is an auspicious day for projecting ambitious plans for business progress. Whatever is constructive in purpose is well directed under this configuration, which presages tremendous feats of engineering and building. Architects are to profit greatly through remarkable new inventions as well as through shortage of dwellings.

Women should not seek prominence under this rule of the stars which indicates that men will desire to occupy all the places of the mighty and will try to retain them.

This is not an auspicious date for formal entertainments. The stars encourage family gatherings, although there may be a tendency toward too much frankness regarding personal shortcomings.

Severe storms may be expected this month in the east and in the lake region. Blizzards may cause loss of stock. Much snow is forecast for the winter.

This should be a fortunate date for southern resorts, which are to profit greatly, but changes in their customs are presaged. Again sports will be of importance and horses will be of renewed interest.

France is subject to the influence of Mars, and under its powerful vibrations will increase military preparations. A crisis in the French government is foretold.

Germany under the rays of Saturn will experience further shrinkage of exports and restricted business. Increased taxation is indicated.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of journeys and changes. Success is foreseen in business and the professions.

Children born on this day will be bright and intelligent. Subjects of this sign usually are reliable.

William Lyon Phelps, educator and writer, was born on this day, 1865. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Justin Winson, librarian and historian, 1831, and M. Carey Thomas, educator, 1857.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 3, 1935

Astrologers read this as an uncertain day, since conflicting aspects are active. It is a time better for recovering from festivities than for continuing merrymaking.

In the morning hours the mind may be unstable and there may be a tendency to look upon the seamy side of life's pattern but this is a physical rather than a spiritual condition.

Neptune is in an aspect that is not auspicious for those who celebrate the holidays in drinking. Strange effects are foreseen, after drinking beverages usually not harmful.

This is a fortunate way for entering into partnership agreements or for signing contracts. It is lucky for making wills or taking out life insurance.

This is a favorable rule for associating with men and women who occupy high positions in the social or professional world. Benefits are presaged for those who make friends with successful persons.

Women are well directed under this configuration, which encourages love affairs. Holiday parties this year will start many romances, and there will be marriages that bring both fame and fortune.

Householders are subject to the best planetary influences. To the men who accept responsibilities the stars promise real rewards in the coming year when there will be evidence of returning prosperity.

Jupiter is powerful at Moscow and success for Russia in money, loans and international alliances is prognosticated.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of activity and advancement. Men will find much to engage their best energies.

Children born on this day may be self-reliant, sanguine and intellectual. Subjects of this sign usually have positive characters and broad sympathies.

Henry Holt, author and publisher, was born on this day, 1840. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Lucretia Mott, reformer, 1793, and Larkin Goldsmith Mead, sculptor, 1835.

BANDSMAN BANS BATON

Freddy Martin, central figure of the "Open House" programmes, conducts his orchestra with deft fingers and shuns a baton. Freddy alternates as conductor, master-of-ceremonies and playing member of his band's saxophone section, so you can see that a baton would only be in his way a good deal of the time. "Open House," broadcast over the Columbia network at 2 p.m., P.S.T., every Sunday, is a programme which brings a local radio favorite from a different city each week to New York for his or her network debut.

WILL EXPLAIN RUSSIAN PLAN

High Soviet Official Will Be Speaker Over CBS Network To-morrow

Valery V. Obolensky Ossinsky, vice-chairman of the State Planning Commission of Soviet Russia, will outline "The Aim of the U.S.S.R. Second Five-Year Plan" in a radio address over the Columbia network from 11.45 to 12 noon, P.S.T., to-morrow. He will speak from the studios of WABC, New York.

Ossinsky, who also is a member of the U.S.S.R. Central Executive Committee and director of the Central Economic Accounting Department, is really Prince Ossinsky, of the House of Obolensky, but does not use the title. His father, who was a prominent newspaper publisher in Russia before the Red Revolution, was beheaded by the late Czar Nicholas because of his fight for freedom of the Russian press.

The address will be heard here over stations KOL, KVI and KSL.

The new popular film entitled "Come to Scotland," will be presented in St. Mark's Hall on Friday evening at 6 o'clock. There will also be suitable Scottish music.

ENGLAND HEARS COAST STATION

Even the mail department of radio station KNX, Hollywood, hardened to the sight of envelopes post-marked in distant places, received a jolt last week when a batch of letters arrived from England.

All the missives enclosed accurate logs of the station's activities on the nights it was heard by the DX fans. One of the most complete letters and logs came from Carn Towan, Sennen S.O., Cornwall.

Another came from Mill Hill, London; this one reported reception of the Los Angeles Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra. Still another letter came from Westcliff-on-Sea, Essex, and another one from Liverpool.

Each letter reported fine signal strength from KNX, several stating KNX to be received more clearly than other United States stations heard on the nights specified.

Don't Trifle with a COLD

Drive it out at once with Grove's Laxative BROMO QUININE

A cold can take hold quickly and develop seriously. It's neither a sign of wisdom nor of will power to drag yourself around while suffering from a cold, without taking measures to stop it at once.

If you do catch cold, treat it for what it really is—an internal infection. Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is positive and direct in action, going right to the source of trouble. It does the four things necessary. First, it opens the bowels; second, it combats the cold germs in the system and reduces fever; third, it relieves the headache and "grippy" feeling; fourth, it tones up the system and fortifies against further attacks.

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine has been the standard cold and grippe tablet for the past forty years. There is nothing better you can take for colds and grippe than Grove's.

Obtain a box at your nearest druggist (the large size is the most economical to buy). Make sure you get Grove's. They're in a white box. Keep them handy at all times. Use them at the first signs of a cold. Grove's has what it takes to stop that cold in a hurry.

Want McMaster Bank Director

Victoria Commercial Travelers Endorse Nomination of Vancouver Man

J. C. Dowds, senior counsellor of Victoria Council, United Commercial Travelers, announces that the local organization has endorsed the nomination of Edward Blake McMaster of Vancouver as British Columbia director of the Bank of Canada.

The resolution passed by the local travelers is as follows:

"Whereas, the Bank of Canada is intended to be a people's bank, independent of any and all present private chartered banking institutions of Canada,

"And whereas, it is apparent that eastern financial interests are endeavoring through chambers of commerce, boards of trade and other organizations, to influence the shareholders of the said bank as to whom they should vote for, suggesting that if the shareholders are not unanimous in their choice British Columbia will not be represented on the directorate of the said bank,

"And whereas, it is our opinion that the interests of British Columbia and the bank itself can be best served by electing a qualified director in class C as contemplated by the provisions for election of directors to the board of the said bank,

"And whereas, the splendidly rounded out experience, in agriculture, commerce, manufacturing and administration generally of Edward Blake McMaster, with his thirty-five years' knowledge of and close contact with the economic conditions prevailing in western Canada, eminently fits him for the position of a director of the said bank,

"Therefore, be it resolved, that we, the officers and members of Victoria Council No. 434, United Commercial Travelers of America, Victoria, B.C., do hereby endorse the nomination of the said Edward Blake McMaster and pledge ourselves to do everything possible to assure his election,

"And further, be it resolved, that copies of this resolution be sent to the press, board of trade, and or chamber of commerce, and all commercial travelers organizations in Canada."

While official comment was withheld, it was understood in well-informed quarters the decision to close the exchange, which has been in operation since September 19, was due to lack of business.

MEDICINE HAS REDUCED INFANT DEATH RATE

Mortality of Children Under One Year Cut Down in Many Cities Due to Greater Cleanliness and Control of Food Supply

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

There was a time when between 250 and 300 babies out of every 1,000 born in certain large cities of the United States died before they were one year old. With the advance of modern medical science these rates have been greatly reduced, so that the average rate for 935 cities in 1933 was 57.1.

Since the previous year, cities of Texas and South Dakota have been added to the birth registration area. If only those cities which were in the birth registration area in 1932 are compared with those for 1933, the rate for last year is 55.9—the lowest ever recorded in the history of this country.

This is highly significant, because the period was one of financial emergency and financial depression, with many people on relief.

Furthermore, health authorities believe that the infant mortality rate is a good measure of medical and public health effort. It means that, even during the financial depression, medical and public health officials have held their own in the battle against disease.

It is of great significance to realize that Portland, Ore.; Seattle, Wash.; and Oakland, Calif., have for several years been among the first with the lowest infant mortality rates. In 1933 the rate for Portland was 38, and for Seattle and Oakland, 38.

Smaller cities, such as Fort Wayne, Ind.; Long Beach, Calif., and Tacoma, Wash., report rates of 33 and 35. Among cities of 50,000 to 100,000 population, Berkeley, Calif., and Newton, Mass., have death rates of 21, and San Jose, Calif., a rate of 23.

In contrast with these enviable records, Memphis, Dallas and Atlanta have the highest rates among cities of over 250,000; namely, 112, 86, and 83; El Paso, San Antonio, and Chattanooga have the three highest among cities from 100,000 to 250,000; namely, 125, 113 and 89. And Charleston, W. Va.; Montgomery, Ala.; and Huntington, W. Va., have the highest rates for cities of from 50,000 to 100,000; namely 131, 110 and 106.

The lowest rate among the ten largest cities in the country was 44. This rate was reported for Cleveland and St. Louis. Chicago, which had the lowest rate in 1932, and Philadelphia tied for third place with rates of 49.

But all large cities of the United States had rates under 70, and the average is about 56.

The infant mortality rate is a reflection not only of the medical and public health care available in a community, but also of the social and economic status, the climatic conditions and similar factors.

Nevertheless, among the factors of greatest importance is the provision of a clean, carefully controlled food supply. Infant mortality rates have been lowered primarily by cutting down the number of deaths from dysentery and from diarrheal disorders, due to infected water and infected milk.

The manner in which American cities have maintained their wonderful record during the period of financial depression is a further testimony to the self-sacrificing character of medical and public health efforts.

MEAT BUSINESS GAINS IN YEAR

Associated Press

Chicago, Jan. 2.—Marked improvement, embracing volume, prices, earnings, wages and employment, permeated the "livestock to meat" industry in 1934—from producer to consumer.

Volume of meat consumption, it was disclosed to-day, was the greatest in United States history.

Prices paid for livestock, benefiting producer exclusive of government payments, soared to the highest level in two to three years.

Packers reported sharp gains in sales and earnings.

Packing plant employment reached a high 16 per cent above 1932, while payrolls were up to a point 38 per cent greater at one time. The number of wage earners employed in September and October was the largest for any two months' period on record.

The aggregate volume of meat products eaten in 1934 in the United States probably exceeded 20,000,000,000 pounds, according to W. W. Woods, president of the Institute of American Meat Packers, setting an all time record for meat consumption.

THE SCREEN

JACK BENNY AT CAPITOL

Favorite Radio Star at Head of Splendid Cast in "Transatlantic Merry-go-round"

One of the greatest casts of screen, stage and radio stars ever assembled, comes to the Capitol Theatre to-day in Reliance's "Transatlantic Merry-Go-Round," a sparkling comedy drama with melody, mystery and romance, staged aboard a palatial ocean liner.

Headed by Jack Benny, Nancy Carroll and Gene Raymond, it includes Sydney Howard, who is known as England's Chaplin, Mitzi Green, Sid Silvers, Frank Parker, the Boswell Sisters, Sidney Blackmer, Ralph Morgan, Shirley Grey, Sam Hardy, Patsy Kelly, William Boyd, Jean Sargent and Jimmy Grier and his orchestra.

Jack Benny's broadcasts from the high seas, including imitations of famous screen personalities by the now grownup Mitzi Green, songs by Frank Parker and the Boswell Sisters, comedy by Patsy Kelly, music by Jimmy Grier and his orchestra and elaborate dance ensembles by a bevy of Hollywood beauties, are high spots of this Harry M. Goetz-Edward Small production, which Benjamin Stoloff directed for release through United Artists. Sammy Lee and Larry Ceballos directed the musical sequences in the story which is from the pen of Leon Gordon.

COLUMBIA THEATRE

John Wayne, who measures nearly seven feet in height when dressed in his cowboy regalia, made his debut in pictures in "The Big Trail" while working as a prop boy at Fox Studios during the summer vacation from the University of Southern California.

The tall star's latest picture is the Lone Star thriller, "Randy Rides Alone," which is at the Columbia Theatre to-day.

Alberta Vaughn, blonde star, plays opposite Wayne; while others in the cast are George Hayes, Yakima Canutt, Earl Dwire, Arthur Ortega, and Tex Phelps.

Vienna Choir Here To-morrow

Complete costumes, powdered wigs, hoop skirts and high heels will be worn by the twelve-year-old members of the Vienna Saengerknabel in their performances of light opera, which they will give in Victoria at the Empire Theatre to-morrow.

Dressed as fine gentlemen of the rococo period and as ladies with curly chignons and slippers, they play their parts in the operas of Mozart, Haydn, with rare charm that only their boyishness can give. Off the stage, their traditional costume is a sailor suit with an insignia on their nautical caps.

The boys have their headquarters in the Imperial Palace in Vienna, which has been the traditional home of the Saengerknaben since its inception in 1498, when it was founded by imperial decree of Emperor Maximilian.

Smart Revue Opens Friday

Featured by the appearance of several trained monkeys, the smart New York revue, "Happy Landing," will open its Victoria engagement at the Empire Theatre on Friday, and will show three times on Saturday as well and the stars of the revue have been chosen to present a midnight matinee commencing at 12.05 o'clock Monday morning.

The scenery of this revue is said to be worthy of special mention. It shows a Venetian scene and is colorful and sparkling. The stage band is another feature. This orchestra supplies a musical background for the revue and also plays a group of specialty numbers.

Cal Norris and his comedy monkeys are headlined on the programme. "Jiggs" is the leading performer of this troupe. He is extremely clever and has gained wide experience in screen productions. He was the leading monkey in "Tarzan and His Mate."

A Mexican magician is also traveling with the company. He can perform a number of outstanding tricks that have pleased many large audiences. A torch singer, a tap dancer and acrobatic dancers are also on the programme, and provide worth-while entertainment.

Quintuplets Are Play's Inspiration

New York, Jan. 2.—The Dionne quintuplets are before the Broadway footlights to-day. They are not there in the flesh, but rather their fame is used to knit together the story of a comedy that is "packing them in."

In the play, "Page Miss Glory" by name, a make-believe aviator flies a make-believe airplane from New York to Callander, Ont., with serum and thus wins the heart and hand of the gorgeous female star of the show.

Leading up to the supposed mercy dash, a supposed newspaper is made to have a headline chronicling the purely make-believe news that one of the little Dionne babies is suffering from pneumonia. The aviator-actor tacks a picture of Miss Glory on the dashboard of his plane and races into northern Ontario with the serum tube.

The blonde inspiration and the audience loose a sigh of relief when the aviator returns to the stage to say he reached Callander in time. Miss Glory becomes the flier's bride and everybody goes home happy.

Throughout, Dionne is pronounced "Deeyawnee" with emphasis on the "yawn."

DOMINION THEATRE

Out of the tense drama of the courtroom, the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios have brought the powerful story of "Evelyn Prentice," co-starring William Powell and Myrna Loy, which is showing at the Dominion Theatre.

The picture marks the third appearance of Powell and Miss Loy as a co-starring team and is the industry's response to the public's demand for a reappearance of the popular pair who made screen history in "Manhattan Melodrama" and "The Thin Man."

"Evelyn Prentice" presents Powell as a noted criminal attorney with a lovely and dutiful wife who, through a momentary indiscretion, becomes involved in a scandalous murder case.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE

Teaching the daughter he loves to love another man is the dramatic feat accomplished by Richard Dix in his starring role in "His Greatest Gamble," RKO-Radio Picture at the Playhouse Theatre.

In this production, Dix portrays a scapegrace but well-intentioned father who seeks to guide his child to happiness, at no matter what the cost may be to him. He steals the girl from the mother's cosseting custody, but their life together is terminated when an accidental killing sends him to jail for a long term.

The Friendly Help Welfare Association makes an urgent appeal for a cookstove, chairs, tables and beds for several families in dire necessity. Anyone willing to help out these unfortunates are requested to communicate with the association headquarters, 1234 Pandora Avenue, or G 7194.

Fire Chief Alexander Munro had made a good start to-day on a New Year's resolution that 1935 should be a "fireless year" for Victoria. In the first thirty-six hours of the year no fires were reported and the chief said he would feel quite pleased if the condition continued for the next 364 days.

At the police station this morning the regular first of the year "coat and hat returning" was in full swing. Outer garments lost at public dances and parties all over the city find their way to headquarters early in the hours of New Year's morning and it often takes a week before they get back to their owners' hands.

First police court case of the year and the only one on the docket when Magistrate George Jay took the bench this morning was that of Joseph McDougall, charged with begging. He was arrested at half an hour before midnight Monday. He pleaded not guilty and was remanded until to-morrow.

Rearrangement of the seating of the aldermen in the council chamber is being carried out for the opening council sitting of the year on January 7. The old railing has been torn down and the aldermen will face the mayor seated at new desks arranged in a crescent. The change, which has been carried out by Frank Hunter, city clerk, is expected to improve the acoustics.

The Mitchell and Duncan four-faced street clock, which for years has told the time of day and night to passers-by at Government and View Street, is to be moved. Its new location will be on the south side of Yates Street, just east of Douglas, if the application made to the City Hall is approved. Mitchell and Duncan will move their jewelry business from Government Street to the Yates Street location.

ZOG BOMBING IS RUMORED

Associated Press

Athens, Greece, Jan. 2. — Reports from the Island of Corfu to-day said a bomb had been hurled into the palace at Tirana, wounding King Zog of Albania.

Immediate confirmation of the report was not forthcoming. A revolt, reports from outside Albania say, has been in progress there for some days.

The Corfu sources said a general mobilization of Mohammedan forces had been declared. Christians were excepted.

ANOTHER RUMOR

London, Jan. 2. — The Albanian legation here to-day called reports from Corfu that King Zog had been wounded "just another Greek rumor."

A spokesman said the legation would have been notified immediately had such an event occurred.

Rome, Jan. 2. — The Albanian legation here, the Italian Foreign Office and Stefani, official news agency, had received nothing to-day from Albania on the wounding of King Zog, reported from the Island of Corfu.

The legation said malicious rumors were being spread abroad about Albania.

King Zog, who is forty, has occupied the throne since Albania was made a kingdom in 1928. An attempt to assassinate him was made in Vienna in 1931. He escaped unhurt, but one of his aides was killed and another wounded.

BOARD GETS MORE POWER

Dairy Board Can Control All B.C. Milk Sold in Fraser Valley

The Lower Mainland Dairy Board will have its powers extended so that it may control all milk produced in British Columbia that is sold on the mainland, it was announced at the Parliament Buildings this morning.

This is an extension to its former powers which were limited to the control of milk produced in the Fraser Valley. It was considered that the effectiveness of the board would be endangered if milk from other parts of the province could be shipped into the valley and sold outside of Fraser Valley marketing regulations.

In connection with milk marketing, government officials are awaiting the return from Ottawa of P. L. Maitland, K.C., who went to the Dominion capital on behalf of the Fraser Valley Milk Producers' Association, when it was found that the scheme drafted by the Dominion Government, after previous recommendations, was not satisfactory. The Dominion scheme did not go as far as that prepared for tree fruit marketing and the power of levies for equalization was considered essential.

"It should be possible to draft a scheme that will be satisfactory, but the first consideration in any scheme must be for the man whose means of livelihood is the land and the marketing of his products," commented Hon. K. C. MacDonald, Minister of Agriculture, this morning.

USHER IN 1935 AT CHURCHES

Watch Night Services Held in Several Churches on New Year's Eve

A number of Victorians took advantage of watch night services on New Year's Eve to usher in the first minutes of 1935 with prayer and praise of God. Impressive services were held at a number of the larger religious institutions in the city.

About 300 people attended a non-liturgical service at Christ Church Cathedral, presided over by Rev. T. E. Rowe. Hymns, the ninety-first Psalm and a sermon on "Are There Twelve Hours in the Day"—for the carrying out of God's word—were main features of the service.

A somewhat dramatic touch was supplied at Metropolitan Church, the only United Church in the central part of the city to hold a New Year's Eve service, when Rev. E. P. Church ended his sermon precisely at midnight so that the large congregation could spend the first five minutes of 1935 on its knees in prayer.

Services of a similar nature were held in several other churches.

There was no service at the Roman Catholic Cathedral.

Mayor Receives And Pays Calls

One hundred and fifty persons called at the Mayor's office at the City Hall on New Year's Day, there to greet Mayor Leeming and members of the City Council and to wish them all success in their public activities during the coming twelve months.

This civic reception, which was of an informal nature, opened at 10 o'clock and lasted for nearly two hours.

Just before noon the Mayor left to pay his own official calls at Work Point Barracks, the Navy Barracks at Esquimalt and then to attend the official annual luncheon of the Fifth Regiment mess at the Armories. This luncheon, presided over by Col. Aubrey Kent, was attended by Lieutenant-Governor J. W. Fordham Johnson, Major-General E. G. Ashton, D.O.C. Military District 11; Commander G. C. Jones of the Canadian navy and other public dignitaries.

In the afternoon the Mayor resumed his calling, paying visits at the homes of Chief Justice J. A. Macdonald, Dean Quainton, Bishop J. H. MacDonald and J. A. Wattie.

LAST RITES HELD

Many sorrowing friends attended the funeral of Mrs. Ethel McCorkall, held Monday afternoon, Rev. F. W. Weaver officiating. The hymns sung were "Abide With Me" and "Nearer, My God, to Thee." The casket and hearse were covered with beautiful floral offerings. The following acted as pallbearers: H. Steverson, H. J. Steverson, John Edwards, R. Clarkson, J. Hamilton and W. A. Buckle. The remains were laid at rest in Royal Oak Burial Park.

MORE JAIL, FEWER FINES

New Vancouver Magistrate Tells Attitude Toward Morality Cases

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Jan. 2.—Jail sentences instead of fines will be meted out hereafter in cases of persons appearing in police court here on morality charges, Magistrate Mackenzie Matheson, newly-appointed, announced today when he made his first appearance in his new role.

"I am going to make a determined effort to stamp out vice in this city," Magistrate Matheson said.

Magistrate Matheson was welcomed on behalf of the barristers by Henry Castillou and Gordon Scott, prosecutor.

Magistrate H. S. Wood also made his first appearance on the police court bench to-day, being welcomed by Adam Johnson and Mr. Castillou.

"I shall continue the good work of my predecessor," he said.

The two magistrates succeeded W. M. MacKay and J. A. Findlay, whose appointments were rescinded by the British Columbia government on recommendation of Mayor G. G. McGeer, M.P.P.

Scott Nearing Here To-morrow

Scott Nearing, American radical sociologist, will make his first appearance in Victoria in eight years when he speaks in the Chamber of Commerce Auditorium at 8 o'clock to-morrow evening on "The New World Economy." He has just completed a tour of the Soviet Union, Germany, Austria and Spain.

Books completed by the lecturer in the last decade include "Oil and the Germs of War," "Dollar Diplomacy," "The British General Strike," "Education in Soviet Russia," "Black America," "Twilight of Empire," "War," "Must We Starve?" and "Fascism." In 1924 he took part in a noted debate with Bertrand Russell, England's radical philosopher.

Overflow audiences have greeted Mr. Nearing on his present Canadian tour.

"Y" TO OPEN NEW CLASSES

Salesmanship, Tap-dancing and Physical Culture New Activities

With new activities of three completely different types beginning within the next few days, the Y.M.C.A. is laying the foundations of a record year. The three new classes planned are part of the "Y's" scheme for the development of the club idea and the fuller use of leisure time.

Salesmanship, tap dancing and physical culture for women are the three subjects which will be added to the "Y's" wide list of club classes, which already include photography, public speaking, shortwave radio, stamp collecting and an aviation ground course.

Under the title of Sales Club, a new self-study group will get under way next Monday evening. The course is divided into three main sections, study of the regular syllabus issued by the Y.M.C.A., sales demonstration to be staged by members and criticism by a competent expert.

The course will be open to all members of the association, and will meet every Monday evening at 7.30 o'clock in the Y building. Frank Partington has been temporarily appointed secretary.

TAP DANCING

The tap dancing course will be of [illegible] under the charge of Miss N. White, who has had a wide experience in both tap and toe dancing, and who prepares her own dance routines. The class will be open to both sexes and special attention will be given to children.

Classes will be held in the badminton hall on View Street every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, at times to suit the convenience of pupils, beginning next week.

The physical culture class for women will be conducted by Archie McKinnon, physical director of the "Y." Plans, which are not at present fully completed, provide for physical exercise of two different types. The object of the first will be reducing, and of the second symmetrical muscular development and general toning up of the system.

The three new classes follow the general policy of the Y, successfully carried out during the last two years, of getting small groups working within the association's facilities, for training in the enjoyment and profitable use of leisure time.

COLD STORAGE SHOWS PROFIT

Large Deficits of Past Turned Into Operating Net During Last Year

Mayor Leeming got his first good news for 1935 when he scanned his first official correspondence for the new year at his office in the City Hall this morning.

The good news was contained in the auditor's annual report on the operations of the Victoria Cold Storage and Terminal Warehouse Company Limited. In this report the plant at Ogden Point shows a net operating profit of $661.72 for its fiscal year ending November 30, 1934. This contrasts with previous annual losses running into many thousands of dollars.

The report of the auditors, George A. Touche and Company, was presented at the City Hall by Duncan MacBride, as authorized agent for J. Arthur LaRue, trustee, and as general manager for the bondholders.

"The results of the cold storage operation for the last year indicate that it can become a very profitable operation as well as a vital industrial adjunct to the city and island," the mayor said.

"The net profits of $661.72 for the year compare with a loss during the preceding year of $8,065.58, which means an increase in profits of $8,727.30," the auditors explained.

The report reveals a total revenue for the year of $32,448.16, compared with $26,339.46 for the preceding year.

Chief items in the revenue account are receipts of $19,490.36 for storage of fish, $4,988.27 for storage of general commodities, and ice sales of $6,755.55.

Expenditures of $31,786.44 include salaries of $6,997, and all the costs of insurance, sidings, rentals and plant operations.

Miss Jane Gordon Died Yesterday

At St. Joseph's Hospital yesterday Miss Jane Gordon, of Rose Street, passed away, aged sixty-nine years. Born in England, she had been a resident of this city for two and one-half years. She is survived by one brother in England and a brother in South America.

The funeral will take place on Friday at 2 o'clock from the Sands Mortuary. Rev. Dr. W. G. Wilson will officiate, and the remains will be laid to rest in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

Y.M.C.A. HOLDS OPEN HOUSE

Facilities of Association Viewed Yesterday By Over 600 Visitors

The unique physical and cultural facilities provided for the youth of Victoria by the Y.M.C.A. were viewed yesterday in many cases for the first time, by over 600 visitors to the association's building on the occasion of the annual New Year's open house.

From 2 till 6 o'clock the guests flocked to the building, explored its various branches, admired the new decoration of the lobby, and watched an excellent physical programme staged by members of the association and its classes.

TEA SERVED

Afternoon tea was served to over 200 by the newly-formed Girls' Auxiliary of the "Y," headed by Miss G. Waite. Four wives of directors, Mrs. H. B. Witter, Mrs. W. F. Pinfold, Mrs. J. O. Cameron and Mrs. W. A. Jameson poured tea for the guests, while their husbands and other members of the board received the visitors in the lobby.

Mrs. Donald McAdie, president of the Y.M.C.A. Women's Auxiliary, was in charge of the whole entertainment of the guests.

Entertainment during tea was provided by a string trio made up of Miss Margaret Pringle, John Pimm and Herbert Botten.

The physical programme staged throughout the afternoon presented the work of every class in the "Y," and included demonstrations of gymnastics, physical training, games and boxing and wrestling.

Frank Paulding, secretary of the local branch, who was in charge of the arrangements for the open house, this morning declared himself delighted with the results obtained and the obvious impression made on the visitors by the demonstrations.

PAY RESTORED FOR UNDERPAID

Department Active to See That Minimum Wage Laws Respected

Figures secured from the B.C. Department of Labor show that the year just closed will establish a record in the amount of wages recovered for female workers who have been paid below the minimum called for by the Women's Minimum Wage Act.

Six employees of the department are now available to act as inspectors to see that the new and strengthened legislation put through at the last session is lived up to and their efforts have resulted in a total of $11,652 being obtained for underpaid workers from January, 1934, to November, 1934. In November alone $1,310 was secured.

With two monuths more to be added to the total the figure will be way above that of any other year. In 1927, $2,384 was secured; in 1931, $3,581; in 1933, $6,835.

Minimum wages hace been increased for thousands of male workers under new legislation and the problem of collections for men who have been underpaid has not been so great. Since the beginning of October to the present time the department has secured $1,100 to pay to men and youths whose firms have paid them below the minimum.

Inspection work on Vancouver Island shows that while there are breaches of the regulations they are being fairly well lived up to. On the mainland the conditions are not so favorable, but determined to see the wages specified are paid the department is taking action wherever breaches are discovered. Many cases are settled out of court, but virtually every week some prosecutions are lodged.

Wigs in Court For Ship Trial

Wigs are being brushed up and goose quill pens sharpened for the assembling at 10.30 o'clock Thursday morning of the Admiralty Court under Mr. Justice Archer Martin to try the case of The King vs. Emma K.

Registrar Orwaid Barton and the lawyers in the case as well as the justice will wear wigs. Admiralty Sheriff H. W. Goggin will wear the traditional morning coat, but no wig. All the writing by the bench will be done with goose-quills.

The Emma K. is a boat that has been before the courts for some time because of her use in alleged liquor smuggling operations. In this case she will not be defended in court, but W. C. Thomson, counsel of Vancouver, will ask leave to be heard for the assignee of the mortgage. H. W. R. Moore will conduct the case for The King.

COAL PETROL HIGH GRADE

More Volatile Than Ordinary Gasoline, Says English Report

The argument that petrol produced from coal is unique and far superior to petrol produced from petroleum is made in some of the material on the subject that has been secured for consideration of the B.C. government in its coal inquiry.

The argument is included in a report on the subject made in England. It is claimed the petroleum produced from coal has a much higher anti-knock value and is more volatile. It is easily the best petrol commercially available to-day, the English report says. The report also points out that while recent government proposals in England are aimed to encourage the manufacture of petrol from coal have led people to believe it is a new venture the process has been carried out since 1928. One million tons of coal have been treated by one firm and the demand for the petrol from coal exceeds the supply.

Four years ago a demonstration was given of air craft flying on coal petrol and the quality of the spirit and methods of refining and have been steadily improved and to-day the entire Home Defence Squadron is using coal petrol only.

Pointing out the coal treated is still available for fuel the reports claims there is an appalling waste when raw coal is burned for domestic purposes. A soot and smoke nuisance that could be eliminated is also created by the use of raw coal.

Injured Seagull Is Despatched

An errand of mercy was performed by police to mark the first day of the year.

At noon yesterday a seagull with a broken wing was seen by a resident on Dallas Road between Government and Douglas Streets. Police went to the scene but could not find it. Later in the day the gull was discovered on the rocks, dragging its wing. Two officers mercifully put the bird out of its misery.

THE SPORTS MIRROR

MAX BAER'S proposal to meet Steve Hamas and Art Lasky is new only in the sense that if such a multiple match was made possible, the Butterfly Butcher Boy would be the first champion in any division to engage two ranking challengers on the same night.

Fighters of the past have tackled as many as a half dozen in an evening, but not while ruling the resined roost.

* * *

The closest thing to what Baer suggests was left uncompleted when Jim Jeffries fractured a bone in his right hand on the hard head of Bob Armstrong, clever and shifty negro, in 1898.

Seeking to give Jeffries a smashing introduction in New York, Billy Brady signed the boilermaker to box Armstrong and Steve O'Donnell, who held an Australian title when it meant vastly more than one does today, ten rounds each at the old Broadway Athletic Club.

* * *

Jeffries looked so bad in eking out a decision over Armstrong, that there was no demand for him to attempt the second assignment even had he been able to. Boilermaker Jim was laughed off Broadway. The broken hand turned out to be a break for Jeffries, for among those guffawing was Bob Fitzsimmons.

Fitz figured that the cumbersome Jeffries who barely outpointed Armstrong would have no chance against him, and readily accepted when Brady himself promoted the production at Coney Island only ten months later. Ruby Robert realized his mistake with the opening burst of fire, however, for Tommy Ryan had taught the California Bear his famous crouch, and worked wonders with him.

Fitzsimmons went out in the 20-odd rounds in the initial defence of the heavyweight leadership he had taken from Jim Corbett a little more than two years before, and the hairy Jeffries established a record that still stands, by becoming champion in his eleventh start.

Fitzsimmons made his bow as a beak buster by taking on not two men, but five in one night. Ruby Robert beat them all, including Herbert Slade, the Maori heavyweight, who later was brought to America to square off with John L. Sullivan.

Fitz performed this remarkable feat in 1881 in a tournament conducted by Jem Mace at Timura, New Zealand, in the same ring in which he beat four rivals on one bill to acquire the amateur championship of that country.

Tim McGrath, veteran manager and wit of San Francisco, who handled Tom Sharkey and many others, digs up the accounts of early chroniclers to show that one American heavyweight champion forfeited his crown as the result of being too pugnacious.

He was Yankee Sullivan, a 160-pounder who inherited the throne with the retirement of Tom Hyer. Sullivan lost the title to Hyer in a terrific bare-knuckle engagement at Rock Point, Md., in 1849.

Sullivan marched front and centre with John Morrissey at Long Point, Canada, in 1853. Sullivan, so ring reporters of the period relate, had Morrissey beaten in thirty-seven rounds, when a row started outside the inclosure.

Sullivan, born Irish, but raised in the streets of London's East End, rushed from his corner to help his friends. Pocketed in the crowd, he was unable to get back to the ring to toe the scratch at the call of time. The title went to Morrissey. That was one way of winning one in the good old days.

* * *

Peter Maher, the ignited Irishman who accommodated the best for seventeen years, met Tom Johnson and Frenchy Keller, a tough South-of-Market warrior and one of the foremost trial-horses of his day, in scheduled four-rounders in San Francisco on the same night in 1893. Johnson, much in public esteem as the result of a surprisingly hard battle he gave Peter Jackson, went out in the first heat.

* * *

In the old six-round days in Philadelphia, Jack Blackburn, phenomenal negro lightweight, made a practice of facing six opponents for a round apiece. Although many were heavyweights, the comparatively few who stayed three minutes almost invariably walked out on their heels.

* * *

John L. Sullivan frequently glowered at three and four in a night when he was defying all comers, but there was not a first-rate adversary in a carload. The Boston Strong Boy backed the more durable ones into a stage curtain, where an accessory applied the final touch with a mallet.

Jack Dempsey duplicated all of Sullivan's stunts both coming up and going down the ladder, and without the assistance of a man with a mace.

Payne, Watt and Stewart Net Six Goals In 7-0 Win

Local Eleven Gives Sterling Performance to Capture Holiday Attraction

Gordie Bell In Fine Exhibition

Driving through for seven goals without a reply from their opponents, Victoria United scored a smashing victory over Vancouver St. Saviour's in the Intercity Football League match, played at the Athletic Park yesterday afternoon. Well over 1,000 were in attendance, and although they were pleased with the local victory, the weak exhibition turned in by the visitors was somewhat disappointing.

After the first ten minutes the Saints were never in the picture, and in the second half were hemmed in their own section of the field the whole time. As a matter of fact the Victoria forwards got tired of scoring goals and during the last fifteen minutes of play were passing the ball back and forth in front of the goal and making no attempt to shoot.

GOAL GETTERS

Victoria's seven goals were scored by George Payne, John Watt and Scotty Stewart with two apiece and Noel Morgan. Although he was the only forward not to get a goal, Gordie Bell, right winger, was responsible for about five of them with his beautiful crosses. He turned in a great performance on the left wing. Eddie Moore, making his debut in intercity football at left half, surprised no small section of the crowd with his fine breaking up tactics and sure kicking. Roy Barnes at centre-half was a stumbling block to the visiting forwards, while Joe Crowe and Sammy Essler were two safe backs. The ever reliable Louis DeCosta in goal showed up well, but had little to do.

St. Saviours carried the offensive from the start and DeCosta leaped into the air to gather in a lob from Rice on the right wing. Moore conceded a corner with Rice, putting in a weak attempt. St. Saviours forced another corner off DeCosta but the cross was cleared by Crowe. The Victoria forwards seemed unable to break clear of the visiting halves.

Watt, Payne and Bell broke through with only one man to beat, but Watt's pass went to the full-back's toe. The local forwards finally got clicking and Bert Lawrie, St. Saviour's goalie, was called upon to block two shots from Stewart and Morgan. Victoria continued to hold the attack and Watt took a pass from Payne in front of the goal, but delayed his shot too long and Lawrie rushed out to kick clear. Payne had a hard drive blocked and drove the rebound over the bar.

OPENING GOAL

Victoria went into the lead after twenty minutes on the prettiest goal of the afternoon. Stewart crossed from right wing and Payne headed to Morgan, who in turn headed the ball to Watt, and the latter flicked it into the goal, with his head, as Lawrie rushed out in an effort to save.

The Saints broke fast from the kick-off, and De Costa was forced to go up into the air to pull down Chestnut's drive from the left wing. Victoria forced a corner, and Stewart headed Moore's lob past the post. The locals netted their second goal after forty minutes. Bell sent in a low shot from the wing, and when Lawrie fumbled Payne lifted the ball into the open net. Minutes later Payne rattled the post with a drive from a cross by Bell. Halftime found no change in the score.

For ten minutes of the second half play swung from end to end, but after that it was a continual bombardment of the Saints' net. Morgan made it 3 to 0, walking the ball into the open net after Lawrie had failed to hold a drive from Payne. Stewart drove miles high over the bar on a pass from Watt. The latter got Victoria's fourth counter when he converted a rebound from a shot by Stewart. Victoria continued to keep the ball in the Saints' goal mouth, and Stewart brought the score to 5 to 0 when he booted the ball into the net after Watt had kicked it from Lawrie's hands when he failed to clear after saving from Morgan. Payne left-footed the leather past Lawrie with express-like speed on a cross by Bell to make the score 6 to 0. Making another cross from Bell good, Stewart netted the seventh and final goal. For the remainder of the match the Victoria forwards were content to give the fans an exhibition of short passing in the Saints' goal area.

Vancouver And Edmonton Win

Defeat Portland and Calgary, Respectively, in Northwest Hockey League

Vancouver, Jan. 2. — Vancouver Lions cemented their hold on second place in the Northwest Hockey League by whitewashing Portland Buckaroos 4 to 0 before 5,000 fans here yesterday.

Led by Brian Hextall, the former Portage le Prairie junior, who is making good in a big way in his first season as a professional, the Lions scored once in the first period battled through a tough middle session, and added three counters in the final period.

Dave Trottier, local right winger, snared the opening goal when he rifled the puck past goalie Red McCusker late in the first canto on a pass from Hank Dyck.

HEXTALL SCORES

Hextall added the second Vancouver goal after two minutes of play in the last period, when he broke away while the Lions were shorthanded, and tricked the Portland goalie out of position to score unassisted. Just before mid-period Clint Smith, the league's leading scorer, picked up the puck at his own blue line, and after tricking the Bucs' defence slid it past McCusker.

Hextall repeated in the last five minutes of play when his team was again shorthanded. Breaking up a Portland power play in Vancouver territory, the youthful winger slid down the ice and drew McCusker out of his net to score in a brilliantly-executed play.

Second Period—No score. Penalties: None.

Third Period—2, Vancouver, Hextall, 2.12; 3, Vancouver, Smith, 9.07; 4, Vancouver, Hextall, 15.23. Penalties: Creasy, Townsend, Kirk.

Edmonton, Jan. 2.—Breaking out in a last period dash that netted them no less than five goals, Edmonton Eskimos clicked for their second Northwestern League win of the season here yesterday by handing Calgary a 6 to 0 setback.

Held out for the first period by some stout defensive work and great goal tending by Sam Timmins, Eaks opened the scoring after twelve minutes of play in the second session, when Bill Carse went through alone to score a gilt-edge goal. Both goals ran narrow escapes thereafter, but both Herb Rheaume and Timmins turned everything aside.

The deluge came in the concluding chapter, and turned what had been an even game into a walkaway for Eaks, who scored five goals.

Trail Wins Over Nelson Hockeyists

Nelson, Jan. 2.—Despite soft ice, fast brilliant hockey featured the West Kootenay Hockey League game here yesterday afternoon when Trail defeated Nelson 2 to 1. Brennan took Tiny Thompson's pass midway through the third period to give trail the one-point lead that Nelson could not overcome during the remainder of the game. Play was even throughout.

Cronie for Trail and Duckworth for Nelson scored the other goals in the first period.

CALIFORNIA'S BEAUTIFUL NEW RACE TRACK

Racing is back in California, and in style, as was expected. Many consider the new Santa Anita track, a panorama of which is shown here, the most beautiful in the world. It is situated near Arcadia, hard on Los Angeles. Commodious stables can be seen in the foreground, with grandstand and paddock beyond. Attractive little Anne Shirley cuddles grand old Twenty Grand, which is to attempt a comeback in the $100,000 Santa Anita 6 Handicap on February 23.

Sees Future For Japanese Players

Connie Mack, on Arrival Here To-day From Orient, Tells of Several Good Prospects in Tokio; No Players There Yet Above Class A, He Says

"The Japanese teams had two or three good looking prospects, but most of their men are only equal to our Class A players," stated Cornelius McGillicuddy, the "Connie Mack" of baseball, who was a visitor to Victoria this morning aboard the liner Empress of Canada. He was returning from a two months' tour of the Orient in charge of the American League all-stars baseball team, which included a number of celebrities of the diamond, Babe Ruth among them.

"Tremendous enthusiasm was shown for baseball by the Japanese," Mack stated. "We drew 200,000 people in Tokio to our four games. It is really remarkable how the Japanese have taken to the game. Everywhere, anywhere, the school boys, and even some of the girls, are playing it. You see them on the streets, in the school grounds, in vacant lots, on the roof tops, anywhere they can pitch and catch a ball. Just give the Japanese youngster a ball, a bat and a glove and he's happy."

The reception given by the people of Japan to the team was amazing, Mr. Mack said. Cheering crowds greeted the Sa. Empress of Japan, aboard which the team crossed the Pacific, at Yokohama, late in October, and even greater crowds were at the station in Tokio when the special boat train arrived.

PRAISES RUTH

"Babe Ruth, of course, was the big gun," Connie said. "I might say, too, he played remarkable ball. He deserved the flattering receptions he received."

Mr. Mack said he was impressed by the pitching of one young player in Tokio.

"That youngster, a boy of seventeen, will do something big some day, I think," he said.

"All the players in Japan are serious about their game," he continued. "They work hard at it. Of course there are a lot of things from which they must get away before they become experts. They need expert coaching, and lots of it, in what to do and the way to do it. But I feel sure they will reach the top. If hard work means anything and will get you anywhere."

LAVISH ENTERTAINMENT

Mr. Mack said the entertainment planned for the team was quite wonderful. The boys of the team hardly had a free moment between games, receptions, luncheons and formal dinner parties and banquets. In Tokio they were guests at a great reception at the United States Embassy, given by Ambassador Grew, and in Manila they were entertained by Governor-General Frank Murphy at Malacanang Palace.

"They just overdid the entertainment side, I thought," he said. "The women of the party enjoyed it all, but the boys felt they would have liked a little more time to themselves. They really did not see as much of the Orient as they would have liked."

At Manila Babe Ruth, with his wife and daughter, left the rest of the party and continued to Siam and Singapore on his way around the world. He will return to New York early in February, Mack said.

LEFT AT HONOLULU

Three of the players, Joe Cascarella, Jimmy Foxx, with Mrs. Foxx and Charles L. Gehringer, left the Empress of Canada at Honolulu last week, and after a few days in Hawaii will proceed to San Francisco. "Lefty" O'Doull remained in Tokio, and will cross to San Francisco in a few weeks.

With Mr. McGillicuddy aboard the Empress of Canada this morning were Mr. and Mrs. E. Averill, Frank H. Hayes, Mr. and Mrs. Eric McNair, John A. Quinn, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schroeder, Mr. and Mrs. E. Whitehill, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton H. Brown, Mrs. Benjamin McFarland and Mrs. A. J. Reach.

World Swimming Record Bettered

Miami, Fla., Jan. 2.—Setting of a new world record brought to a smashing climax yesterday the three-day Olympic stars aquatic meet, which saw twenty-seven standards topple, most of them United States marks.

The world record went to Alice Bridges, United States 220 backstroke champion.

The Uxbridge, Mass., girl was clocked at 6.12 flat in the 440-yard backstroke, automatically giving her the world record for the slightly shorter 400 metres short course, in which the standard of 6.12.4 was established by Phyllis Harding, England, in May, 1932.

Recreational Centre Opens

Mayor Leeming to Officiate at Opening To-morrow at Athletic Park

Ian Eistenhardt, organizer of provincial recreational centres, will arrive in Victoria to-morrow to supervise the opening of Victoria's provincial centre with headquarters at the Memorial Hall.

The enrolling and official opening will take place at the Athletic Park at 2 o'clock to-morrow, with Mayor Leeming officiating.

If inclement weather prevails, the Memorial Hall, 912 Vancouver Street, will be the official opening place.

Those unable to enroll at this time may do so at the regular classes to be held during the week as follows:

Men, at Memorial Hall on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 2 to 3.30 o'clock, and at the Athletic Park on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 2 to 4.30 o'clock.

Women, at Memorial Hall on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 2 to 3.30 o'clock.

The provincial government's scheme of establishing recreational centres has been received with acclamation in Vancouver, and several centres have been opened there. North Vancouver, New Westminster and Nanaimo each have one centre.

It is to be hoped that the young people will take this opportunity and join in the fun that will abound in an atmosphere of free play and healthy enjoyment.

The Victoria Centre will have its headquarters at the Memorial Hall gym, 912 Vancouver Street, which has all facilities and ample floor space and other accommodation.

The classes are free and will be in charge of A. C. Batchelor and Miss H. E. A. Doull.

Melbourne, Jan. 2. — Death overtook the team of Graham and Peters yesterday in the famed New Year's Day automobile race for the Australian Grand Prix, when their car skidded on a curve and overturned. Both were crushed to death beneath the wreckage.

WRESTLING ON TAP SATURDAY

Des Anderson to Meet Herb Parks in Main Event at Tillicum Club

After a day-off of a couple of weeks wrestling will return to the Tillicum gym on Saturday evening, according to an announcement made to-day by promoter Fred Richardson. The first bout will get under way at 8.30 o'clock.

In the eight ten-minute round main event Des Anderson, Seattle, will stack up against Herb Parks, Vancouver. This pair are two of the cleverest little men in the Pacific Northwest. Anderson has met the best and made a splendid showing. Parks is plenty good and should give the Sound City favorite all he can handle.

The semi-windup over five eight-minute rounds will bring together Young Tarzan, Edmonton, and Carl Martin. Tarzan in his last appearance here made such a hit with the fans that promoter Richardson decided to bring him back. Martin is a newcomer and will be making his first showing in a local ring.

Two local preliminaries will round out what appears to be a first class card.

TILLICUMS TO MEET COLONIST

Newsies Will Have Tough Battle in High School Gym; Two Other Games

An epic basketball battle will unroll itself this evening in the Victoria High School gym when Frank Elliott's Colonist cagers clash with the Tillicums in what will be one of the most important fixtures this season for the newsies.

The Colonist, last season's senior B champions and now resting in fourth place on the list, are sorely in need of points if they are to have a chance of retaining their honors.

In the girls' game, Cardinals and Burnett's will face each other in an encounter scheduled for 7.30 o'clock.

The Dealats, leaders in the intermediate A boys' division, and the Chinese Students, pacesetters in their section, will meet in the third game. The game which will decide which of the two quintettes will retain its unbeaten record should prove a good one.

ROAD RACE WON BY M'CLUSKEY

Hamilton, Ont., Jan. 2. — Wilfred McCluskey, color-bearer of the Toronto Monarch Athletic Club, won the annual ten-mile road-race here yesterday after one of the closest struggles in years of road-racing. McCluskey galloped over the ice-coated roads and bucked a strong wind for the first five miles of the journey in 58 minutes and 33 seconds, seven seconds in front of "Whitey" Sheridan, Hamilton.

Veteran Goalie Roach Hero in 1 to 0 Victory in National Hockey League; Americans, Maroons and Boston Are Other Victors

Old John Ross Roach, the only man in hockey to weather years of competition without losing either of his given names, has not lost his old knack of kicking out pucks, either.

Making a big-time comeback after spending most of last season and a lot of this with Detroit Olympics, Roach has not let a puck past him in the 130 minutes of hockey he has played for Detroit Red Wings in two games.

After holding New York Americans to a scoreless draw Sunday night, the grim-faced little goalie took on Toronto's high-scoring Leafs yesterday evening and even they could not beat him. Cooney Weiland scored once for Wings and Roach shuffled off the ice with a 1 to 0 win and no fears of immediate relegation to the minors.

The loss was the second successive one for the Leafs, something that has not happened since Detroit took two in a row in the National Hockey League playoffs last spring. It was the Torontonians' fourth defeat in nineteen games and cut their lead over Montreal Maroons, who have played two games less, to eight points. It was also Wings' second win from Leafs in the three games they have played and both were shut-outs.

MAROONS BEAT CHICAGO

Tommy Gorman's Maroons crept up on Leafs by taking a rough, tough game from Black Hawks in Chicago, 2 to 1, their fourth win in a successive string that rivals their early season row of six. Americans also kept pace: six points, behind Maroons, by taking Montreal Canadiens, 5 to 2, in New York, and Boston crept up to within a point of Chicago, American section leaders, by beating New York Rangers, 5 to 2.

After Weiland picked up a loose puck that hit Red Horner's skate and flipped it by George Hainsworth in the first period, Wings took a New Year's resolution to play defensive hockey and gave Roach plenty of protection.

All the goals in the Chicago game, played in the afternoon to give the youngsters a chance to see it, were scored in the first period. After matching Johnny Gottselig's opening goal with markers by Gus Marker and Stew Evans, Montreal played aggressive hockey to protect their lead.

DISALLOWED GOALS

Fast and rough, the game saw two disallowed goals, one to each team. Hawks claimed they scored on Art Connell once, but the officials ruled the goalie was pushed across the line with the puck. Hooley Smith, Maroon centre, thought he had beaten Lorne Chabot, but the goal judge could not see that the puck had crossed the line.

The ever-astonishing Americans put on their amazing show with variations yesterday evening, when they came from behind to overcome a three-goal lead Canadiens had built up. Wildor Larochelle scored in the first period and Leroy Goldworthy and Jack McGill made it 3 to 0 before Lorne Carr and old Red McVeigh came through with goals that left Americans within striking distance as the third period opened.

Normie Himes sank the tying counter in the first minute of the third and then Dave Schriner, the Amerks' good recruit, passed to Art Chapman for the winning goal and made it sure with one of his own.

Frank, younger of the Patrick brothers, scored a victory over Lester when his Boston Bruins beat Rangers at Boston. Harold Starr, newly-recruited from Windsor, was penalized when the game was less than three minutes old and Bruins took the break to slam in two fast goals, Dit Clapper and Red Beattie scoring.

Big Nels Stewart got two more Boston goals and Charlie Sand the other Boston tally. Bun Cook and Murray Murdock scored for New York.

Air Attack Gives Alabama Great Win

Defeat Stanford 29 to 13 in Annual Rose Bowl Football Engagement Before 85,000; Western All-stars Whip Eastern Reps 19 to 13; Tulane Trounces Temple 20 to 14

Pasadena, Calif., Jan 2. — Aerial sleight-of-hand met football power on the ground yesterday, and 85,000 excited spectators saw legerdemain win as Alabama defeated Stanford 29 to 13.

The visitors from the south put on the greatest exhibition of forward passing seen in the forty-year history of the annual competition in the Rose Bowl. The winners had nothing to match the tremendous drive of the losers, but they tossed the ball with an accuracy that left the record-breaking crowd — and Stanford players — gasping for breath. The Crimson Tide compiled the amazing record of completing ten out of thirteen attempted passes for a total of 216 yards.

With the exception of one sixty-seven yard sprint for a touchdown by Millard ("Dixie") Howell, all the counters were scored or made possible by the astonishingly effective overhead attack.

Howell scored two touchdowns, half of his team's total. There was nothing Stanford could do about Howell's deadly pitching as he threw strikes most of the afternoon.

San Francisco, Jan. 2.—Rising to heights that overshadowed the brilliance of a host of all-American opponents, western gridiron stars defeated their eastern cousins 19 to 13 here yesterday in the tenth annual United States intersectional charity football game, before 55,000 fans.

The western warriors phalanxed three touchdowns into a commanding 19 to 0 lead in the first half.

From the time Jim Barber, tackle from University of San Francisco, snatched up a punt blocked by his team mate, Ray Fuqua, and ran twenty-three yards to a touchdown, the encounter was filled with thrills.

The forgotten man of 1934 football, little Irvine Warburton, scooting into new pages of gridiron glory, added the second touchdown in a spectacular run of seventy-two yards with a punt return.

New Orleans, Jan. 2.—Pop Warner's powerful and deceptive Temple Owls bowed before the fire and dash of Tulane's Green Wave 20 to 14 in the inaugural Sugar Bowl football game yesterday before 30,000 spectators.

Temple opened an attack of power and backfield deception that threatened to sweep the Wave off the field, and ran up a score of 14 to 0 that left the Greenies groggy.

SCOTLAND WINS RUGBY

Cardiff, Wales, Jan. 2.—Scotland yesterday defeated England 27 to 5 in an international schoolboys' rugby match played here.

Glasgow Rangers Nose Out Celtic

Retain First Place in Scottish Football League By Scoring 2 to 1 Win Before 80,000; Reid Scores Four Goals as Hamilton Whips Motherwell

Glasgow, Scotland, Jan. 2.—Eighty thousand ardent fans yesterday swarmed into Ibrox Park to see Rangers down Celtic 2 to 1, retain first place in the league standing and drop Celtic into third place as Hamilton Academicals trounced Motherwell 6 to 1. A drizzling rain marred the game.

Venter's goal put Rangers in the lead. In the second half, however, Celtic was without the services of Napier, who pulled a muscle and Rangers forced the play. Gillick, star of the game, scored Rangers' second tally and Celtic suffered further misfortunte when McGonagle was ordered off the field for throwing the ball at Smith following a series of minor encounters between them. The losers played on pluckily with nine men and finally got a goal off Patterson's boot on a penalty shot.

STEVENSON INJURED

The local derby at Hamilton between Motherwell and Academicals produced an amazing tussle in which Motherwell finished with only eight men on the field. Stevenson was injured so badly he had to be carried from the field.

In the second half Ellis, Motherwell full-back and a Welsh internationalist, and Wales were ordered off the grounds for roughing. Reid got four goals for the winners and Wilson and Harrison one apiece. MacFayden scored Motherwell's single.

Aberdeen scored an easy win over Dundee 3 to 0 on goals by Mills, Armstrong and Devers.

Airdrieonians downed Albion Rovers 3 to 0. Mooney, Conner and Law got their goals.

Clyde was beaten by Partick Thistles 4 to 3. Thistles got an early advantage on two goals by McLennan and one by McLeod, but Clyde worked hard and scored off Hope, Johnston and Smith. The odd goal by Hastie beat them.

London, Jan. 2.—An abbreviated holiday schedule of games in the English Football League yesterday brought no major change in the standing of the first division, but saw Manchester United forge into a virtual four-cornered tie for first place with Sunderland, Arsenal and West Ham United, Brentford and Bolton Wanderers.

Manchester took Southampton into camp 3 to 0 and jumped into third place, separated from Brentford and Bolton by having more substantial than a goal average. Wanderers would have had a chance of getting into an undisputed lead over the division, but soft grounds caused postponement of its game against Burnley.

Sheffield Wednesday climbed into fifth place of the first division by defeating West Bromwich Albion 2 to 1, while Liverpool dropped back to sixth spot by losing to Middlebrough 2 to 0.

Queen's Park Rangers beat Bristol City 4 to 1 in the only game of the third division's southern section, but the standing was not changed.

Tranmere Rovers, top-spot holders of the northern section, played a 1 to 1 tie with Chester, holding first place while Chester clung to second, and Halifax Town missed a chance of ousting Chester when it lost 4 to 0 to Chesterfield.

FRUIT MARKETING

To the Editor:—More than a year ago the writer accepted an appointment from a meeting of fruit growers, the object of which was to discover, if possible, a means whereby advantages might be secured by producers of small fruits through reorganization or otherwise.

Meetings were held at various points on our peninsula, and the advisability of linking four existing groups in one large association was accepted in principle. On the verge of accomplishing the close of a most uncongenial period in the history of Saanich, personal and sectional considerations intervened. The difficulty of adjusting the contracts existing with those required, on an acceptable basis, ended negotiations for the 1934 season. But marketing control legislation on the boards at Ottawa had been discussed and urged as a necessity.

Since the crop harvesting period a new scheme of amalgamation with the lower mainland growers, largely Oriental, has been brought out, and is about ready to be thrown overboard, all of which is proof of virility in the district of Saanich.

Many factors enter into the force of circumstances which has driven many industrious families to the point of desperation, but the chief appears to be overloaded markets. With a most perishable article only to offer for sale, our growers here have suffered, and short of control measures for the disposal of the whole crop they will undoubtedly continue to suffer.

The amalgamation scheme previously mentioned may be quite easily made to apply to this island as a unit or to this Saanich Peninsula as a unit. With legal powers to control the otherwise uncontrolable fruit output, the people of no equal area could enjoy a brighter prospect. PHILIP HOLLOWAY.
RR1, Saanichton, Dec. 31.

Q. D. H. WARDEN

To the Editor:—In the newspaper notices of the death of Mr. Q. D. H. Warden, no mention was made of his chief cricket honors, and as he did achieve the honor of representing his adopted country in an international match, I beg leave to draw attention to the fact.

In "Sixty-years of Canadian Cricket," by J. E. Hall and R. O. McCulloch, published in 1895, his record up to that time may be found. In the years 1891-1892 and 1893 he was a member of the Ottawa team, and in 1891 he played for eastern Canada against Lord Hawke's English eleven. In 1892 he played at Toronto for the "Gentlemen of Canada" against the "Gentlemen of Ireland," and in the same year he played for Canada at Germantown in Philadelphia (Belmont, Merion and Germantown were the three big cricket clubs in Philadelphia, and of the first named Mr. Crawford Coates, who a few years ago lived in Victoria, was a member) in the international match against the United States, making one and three runs—the whole Canadian team making only 65 runs in each innings, and losing the match. Mr. Warden was the regular wicket keeper fo the Ottawa team, and kept wicket in the match against the Irish team, and I expect he kept wicket in the match in Philadelphia, but the score sheet gives no clue as to that. In a note at the foot of a synopsis of a match in June, 1892, at Toronto, it is stated "Warden also gave the spectators a treat, as his innings of 45 (not out) was a very good one."

In his younger days he was, of course, a clever exponent of the game, and was conversant with cricket happenings in all parts of the world, and I recall that last year he told me he kept his copy of "Wisden—to a cricketer what Spalding's Guide is to a baseballer—on a table at the head of his bed. The book, "Ashes and Dust," by D. R. Jardine, on the last test matches in England against Australia, reached him during his last illness. He was not able to read it through, so it was buried with him.

FOUR FLIERS GIVEN HONORS

King Recognizes Dickins, May, Winny and Grandy, Canadians

Edmonton, Jan. 2.—When there is sickness or violence or death in the Far North there is a job for doughty, fearless airmen who know the waste lands of the Arctic and love the life.

In his New Year's honors list the King recognized the two most famous northland fliers in Canada. He bestowed membership in the Order of the British Empire on Clennell H. Dickins and Wilfred Reid May, both of Edmonton. To the country at large that regards their aerial escapades inside the Arctic Circle as comparable with the feats of Lindbergh and Kingsford-Smith, they are just plain "Punch" Dickins and "Wop" May.

They are the sky-riding teammates who made "mercy" flights common occurrences, whose daring in the episode of the lost party of Colonel C. D. H. MacAlpine in the early winter of 1929 and in the grim Yukon search for the "mad trapper," Albert Johnson, was front-page news for days.

GRANDY AND WINNY

The honors list contained two other widely known aviation names, Squadron Leader Roy S. Grandy of Preston, Ont., and Flight Sergeant Harry J. Winny of the Royal Canadian Air Force, Vancouver.

Grandy is a pioneer in air mail flying in Canada.

The Arctic, however, will take particular pleasure in the inclusion of the colorful Dickins and May and Sergeant-Major Frederick Alderton of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, who is made a member of the Order of the British Empire in recognition of his services in the northwest.

"Wop" May has seldom been out of the public eye since he was wounded in a "dog fight" with Germany's Baron Richthofen in the Great War. Later he met the Baron again in the air and was nearby when Captain Roy Brown, another noted Canadian pilot, shot down the celebrated enemy ace.

As a passenger pilot in the Peace River country of Alberta after the war May achieved a brilliant name. He won the McKee Trophy in 1931, the second year of its award, for having accomplished the outstanding service to aviation in Canada. In a dramatic flight from Edmonton to Fort Vermilion he carried anti-toxin with which to fight an epidemic of diphtheria.

DROPPED TEAR GAS

When the two-gun "mad trapper," Albert Johnson, seemed to have eluded an R.C.M.P. posse and escaped into the Yukon after shooting two officers, May was called to the scene. It was he who spotted Johnson breaking trail through deep snow and led police to him, dropping tear gas bombs from overhead. He watched the end of that chase with Johnson's death and carried the body of the "mad trapper" to Aklavik.

His most unusual task was a year ago when he acted as a sheriff's bailiff and flew with a writ of summons to Lake Athabaska, pinning the writ to the masthead of the motorship Mabel, which was ice-locked there. The ship's owners were attached for non-payment of wages. Under court procedure the ship is sued and not the owners.

Dickins made what airmen termed the most spectacular flight in the history of Northwest Territories aviation when he flew from Edmonton almost to the shore of the Arctic Ocean in the search for Co. MacAlpine and his party of eight, missing for two months. He flew over Great Bear Lake in stormy weather and eastward toward Hudson Bay. Dickins was himself missing for a week, forced down by bad weather.

Also a former winner of the McKee Trophy, Dickins has turned more and more to executive work in aviation in recent years, but still is active. Like May, he is a Manitoban. "Wop" was born at Carberry and "Punch" at Portage la Prairie.

JAPANESE HELD AS SPY IN U.S.

Y. Matsuda Photographed Florida Port; Tokio Disowns His Activities

Associated Press

St. Petersburg, Fla., Jan. 2.—Immigration officials endeavored to-day to clear up the identity and entry into the United States of a young Japanese arrested after he was found taking photographs of the harbor in which a United States warship lay.

The man asserted he was Yoshio Matsuda, a Japanese naval reserve officer, financed in the United States by his country's naval department, but in Tokio a spokesman for the navy declared himself puzzled over the matter. The man here could produce no passports.

The naval spokesman said there was a lieutenant - commander Yoshio Matsuda in this country on a mission to purchase naval materials, but that the Japanese officer would have passports and would not have been involved in photographing.

Shown a dispatch from New York saying a woman knew him there as a Japanese lieutenant-commander, the man declined to affirm or deny he held such rank in Japan. He said he would do all his talking when he reached New York.

ACTIVITIES WATCHED

The Japanese, thirty-six years of age, was arrested Monday after Chief of Detectives Lipphard had watched him take pictures of the St. Petersburg waterfront, including the U.S. warship Trenton, stationed here. He was released after his cameras and films were seized, but taken into custody again at the request of United States immigration officers.

Lipphard said Matsuda told him he entered the country at San Francisco, and that he went from there to Detroit, and thence to New York. From New York Lipphard said the man told him he came to St. Petersburg, taking pictures all the while.

TO PURCHASE MACHINERY

Besides his mission of taking pictures, Lipphard quoted the man as saying he had come to the United States to "purchase $500,000 worth of machinery for the Japanese government." Lipphard said the man declined to disclose what kind of machinery he had bought.

IN CANADA TOO

While in Detroit, Lipphard said the Japanese told him he went into Canada on a picture-making expedition. He told the officer his encounter with officers here was the first time his movements had been interrupted.

Lipphard said when he first took Matsuda into custody Monday he was making pictures of the city's new $1,000,000 pier. The coastguard base is nearby and the Trenton and other naval ships are anchored a quarter of a mile off shore from the point.

AS INSPECTOR

Tokio, Jan. 2. — A Navy Department spokesman to-day said Lieut.-Commander Yoshio Matsuda, a naval engineer, was traveling in America as an inspector in connection with naval purchases.

The spokesman insisted he could not believe Matsuda was involved in any photographing because in that event, he said, the Japanese naval attaché at Washington would have reported the matter to Tokio, which has not been done.

Matsuda, the spokesman said, had a passport clearly identifying him and expressed the opinion if the man arrested in Florida had no passport he was another individual, unknown to the Navy Department.

NEW YORK REPORT

New York, Jan. 2.—A woman living at the New York address given by Yoshio Matsuda, said she understood the Japanese was a lieut.-commander in the Imperial Japanese navy.

Declining to disclose her identity, she added that Matsuda had been a roomer in the household of Mrs. William Blackman, a widow, and had been recommended to her by the Japanese Embassy. Matsuda left a few weeks ago with friends for a pleasure and sightseeing trip to the south, she continued.

"He is a very fine gentleman, very quiet, and he told us he was here on official Japanese business," she said.

LISTED AT SEATTLE

Seattle, Jan. 2. — R. P. Bonham, district immigration director here, said to-day a Japanese giving his name as Yoshio Matsuda legally entered this country through the Seattle immigration station in the fall of 1933.

S. B. Hopkins, immigration office head at Tampa, Florida, had said he was waiting for a report to-day from Seattle before deciding disposition of a Japanese held at St. Petersburg after he had been found taking pictures of the waterfront. The man said he was Yoshio Matsuda, Japanese naval reserve officer.

Bonham wired the information to Washington, D.C. He said Matsuda had given his occupation as a naval constructor and his employer the Japanese government. No mention was made as to his purpose in coming here, Bonham said.

Matsuda may remain in the United States two years on a temporary admission petition.

U.S. President's Son In Crash

Associated Press

Philadelphia, Jan. 2.—Franklin Delano Roosevelt Jr., son of the President, was in an automobile crash New Year's night at nearby Wayne, but escaped injury, it was learned to-day. The driver of the other car, Edward Newman, twenty-four, of Radnor, was cut and bruised in the crash.

Arraigned yesterday evening before Justice of the Peace Howard C. Haribson at Wayne, the President's son was released on his own recognizance for further hearing there on January 15.

He explained at the hearing that he had been blinded by the snow and tried to stop when he saw Newman's car, parked near a railroad station. He said his own car skidded when he tried to stop.

WIREPHOTOS INTRODUCED

Transmission of News Pictures By Wire Inaugurated in United States

Associated Press

New York, Jan. 2.—Pictures and stories of fifty salient news events of New Year's Day rode the leased wires side by side and with equal speed yesterday between twenty-five cities of the United States as forty-six daily newspapers, in conjunction with the Associated Press, introduced wirephotos to United States journalism.

The electric eyes of wirephoto machines ranged the country from 3 a.m., E.S.T., when the service for transmission of news pictures by wire was inaugurated over a 10,000-mile transcontinental network.

They delivered these pictures countrywide so rapidly that newspapers went to the streets with visual as well as verbal records of events thousands of miles away.

President Frank B. Noyes of the Associated Press, speaking in Washington, hailed the service as the realization of a dream cherished by newspapers for many years, and called wirephotos "perhaps the most important development in journalism since the first news dispatch was sent over a telegraph wire in 1846."

CABINET RIFT IN AUSTRALIA

Canadian Press via Reuter's

Canberra, Australia, Jan. 2.—Evidence of an uncompromising attitude of Country Party ministers toward the United Kingdom's request that Australian voluntarily reduce its exports of meat to Britain gave rise to belief Thursday's cabinet meeting at Melbourne would find the coalition government seriously divided.

Ministers owing allegiance to the United Australia Party were reported ready to accept temporary restrictions of the meat exports. However, in what they consider the absence of a satisfactory "quid pro quo," Minister of Commerce E. C. G. Page and his Country Party followers appeared determined to accept no restriction and to throw on the United Kingdom the responsibility of restricting compulsorily meat imports from the Commonwealth.

Associated Press

New York, Jan. 2.—The stock market showed some signs of life in the latter part of to-day's session, after milling about apathetically in the early hours, and moderate recoveries were registered by a number of the leaders.

Soft spots were in evidence, however, and the close was rather irregular. Transfers approximated 850,000 shares.

Equities displayed a decided lack of enthusiasm at the start of 1935 trading and various issues sagged under a minimum of profit taking. Economic news was generally pleasing.

Shares of American Can got up 3 points to a new high for the past year or longer. Coca Cola also advanced 2 to a new peak. Case was up nearly 3.

Among issues down about a point were U.S. Steel, Public Service of New Jersey, Union Pacific, Standard Oil of California, Corn Products and Johns-Manville. After being off nearly a point, Santa Fe cancelled its loss.

Commodities were almost as listless as equities. Grains followed a narrow path. Cotton was slightly better. Bonds moved apathetically. Only small changes were recorded by foreign currencies in terms of the United States dollar.

Among Canadian stocks, International Nickel and Canadian Pacific were about even, while Dome and McIntyre yielded slightly. On the curb, Hiram Walker improved fractionally. Dominion government bonds were narrow and quiet. Canadian funds ruled unchanged at 100¾ cents.

MINE SHARES ALSO ADVANCE

Canadian Press

Toronto, Jan. 2.—Bullish tendencies in a number of the medium-price and penny gold shares gave the mining section of the Toronto stock exchange a generally strong appearance in its opening session of 1935.

Pickle Crow advanced 17c to $2.49. God's Lake 10 at 2.21 and gains of 2 to 5c were registered for Central Patricia, McKenzie, Macassa, Siscoe and Reno. Bradian was soft, losing 20c to 2.70, Coniarum, Cariboo and Little Long Lac all took small losses.

Teck Hughes dropped below the $4 mark. Other big golds were quiet and mainly unchanged. Pioneer gained 10c and Bralorne 50c.

A gain of 5c was recorded for Nipissing. Eldorado was down 2. Premier advanced 4c to 1.59. Higher prices ruled for Noranda, Base Metals Corporation and Mining Corporation.

BOND MARKET IS HESITANT

Associated Press

New York, Jan. 2.—A rather hesitant trend marked the bond market in the first sesion of the New Year.

The foreign department showed a little change.

TWO DIE IN SAAR CLASHES

Bloodshed Ushers New Year Into Territory With Many Injured in Political Riots

Associated Press

Saarbruecken, Saar Basin Territory, Jan. 2.—Two persons were killed and at least 100 injured in New Year's political strife in the Saar, it was learned to-day.

Guns, pitchforks, hammers and iron rods were used in clashes throughout the territory between Nazis and their adversaries. Half a dozen of the injured received wounds.

Women were brought into the violent part of the January 13 plebiscite struggle yesterday evening when nine shots were poured into the house of a leader of a Nazi women's organization in Budweiler. No one was injured.

Although officials of the international police force announced "everything is quiet," it was learned fierce battles had been fought in at least five places in the territory. Reports indicated 150 persons had been arrested, but police would not confirm them.

Geoffrey G. Knox, Saar commissioner, threatened to dismiss officials who let any news of violence whatsoever leak out.

Two dead were picked up on highways yesterday. One had been stabbed near Saarlouis and the other shot near Puettlingen.

Two Nazis were shot in the legs early yesterday in a street clash at Jaergersfreede. Twenty-five Communists and Nazis battled there.

Several fights occurred at Saarbruecken, Saarlouis, Sinnerthal, Eberhahn, Puettlingen and Endsore. The last named had twenty-three casualties, the largest number reported from any place.

Nazis opened their final campaign, preliminary to the actual balloting January 13, with four mass meetings to-day, two in Saarbruecken and the others in Burbach and Malstatt.

Earlier Commissioner Knox had decided to declare a political amnesty as the plebiscite campaign moved toward a climax attended by violence.

A proclamation probably will be issued January 7 freeing several leading Nazis who are awaiting trial on various charges and other political prisoners.

Officers of the international army of 3,500 brought here by the League of Nations to insure order during the January 13 balloting remained at their posts during the New Year holiday.

Wheat At Winnipeg Reacts To Liverpool

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, Jan. 2.—Wheat prices drifted lower on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange to-day, reacting to downturns at Liverpool. Values closed a dull session ⅞ cent lower, May at 82⅞ and July 83¾ cents.

With traders taking little interest in the market and no support apparent, only a minimum of selling was required to send values downgrade. Hedging sales, against country receipts of only 212,000 bushels of wheat over the holiday, were too much for the slim support.

Liverpool closed ¾ to ⅝d lower. Buenos Aires ¼ cent higher at noon, was steady. Chicago was lower most of the session.

Flax featured the coarse grains' market, at one time showing gains of 1½ cents. Strong buying in that commodity, with no sellers, pushed prices up. Cash grains were unchanged.

Chicago, Jan. 2.—Material declines of grain markets to-day followed announcement the House Agricultural Committee would introduce bills to increase government regulation of commodity exchanges.

Trading in September grain contracts started to-day at a good discount under July.

Wheat closed nervous, ⅞ to 1⅛ under Monday's finish, May 98½ to 98⅝, corn ⅞ to 1¼ down, May 88⅝ to 88¾, oats unchanged to ½ lower, and provisions showing 15 to 25 cents drop.

Tarzan of the Apes

Lord Greystoke knew his chances with this ferocious monster were small. He thought of his wife—what would become of her? There was yet a slight chance of reaching the cabin. He ran, shouting to his wife to close the great door should the enraged ape cut off his retreat.

The brute succeeded in intercepting Greystoke. He stood at bay, grasping his axe with both hands, ready to swing it upon the infuriated animal when it made its final charge. "Close and bolt the door, Alice," cried Greystoke. He knew he was facing a horrible death—and so did she!

Over the brute's shoulder Greystoke saw with horror and fear his young wife come through the cabin door, armed with one of his rifles. Always before she was afraid of firearms, never touching them. Now she rushed toward the ape with the fearlessness of a lioness protecting its young.

"Alice," shouted Greystoke, "for God's sake—go back!" The ape charged—the man swung his axe with mighty strength, but the powerful brute tore it from Greystoke's hands, hurled it far to one side and with an angry snarl closed upon its defenceless victim.

Came a sharp report and a bullet entered the ape's back! The beast turned upon its new enemy. Lady Greystoke, terrified, tried to fire another bullet. Greystoke, regaining his feet, rushed to drag the ape from his wife's prostrate form. The bullet had done its work! The ape was dead.

Does Free Love Help Marriage?

Dorothy Dix

Discusses Breakdown Of Famous Example

THE PAPERS announce that the Bertrand Russells, the famous apostles of free love and advocates of husbands and wives having extra-marital relationships, have just got a divorce on the ground of adultery. This would be sardonically amusing if the breaking up of every marriage were not a tragedy.

For years and years the Russells have been proclaiming in books and lectures that the thing that was the matter with marriage was that husbands and wives were too much bound to each other. That was what suffocated them and got on their nerves. Monogamy was synonymous with monotony. Same wife across the table every day. Same husband coming home every night. Same kisses. Same line of talk. Same old ball and chain. No wonder people got fed up on it.

And the remedy they recommended for this horrible state of affairs was philandering. Husbands and wives must have their little flings on the side and their mates must be broad-minded and intelligent enough to see that this took the curse off marriage and kept them pepped up and thrilled and made them more interesting and desirable companions on their evenings at home.

It appears, however, that this share-your-wife-or-husband plan doesn't work out as well in actual practice as it does in theory, not even with its sponsors. Somehow their broad-mindedness seems to have shrunk into the narrow view of possessiveness characteristic of husbands and wives when they see strangers poaching on their own preserves.

Nor do they appear to have got any enjoyable kick out of their mates' love affairs with younger and fairer women and more glamorous sheiks. In short, they seem to have got just as jealous over each other's sidestepping as any other man or woman with an unfaithful wife or husband, and to have taken just the same path to the divorce court. They could preach the doctrine of free love to other people, but they couldn't take it themselves.

Nor can anyone else. Real love is never free. It is holden. It is the most monopolistic thing on earth. Not only are we not willing to divide it with any one else, but it becomes degraded in our sight if even the smallest part is given to another. Nobody can imagine a woman who loved her husband viewing with sympathetic interest his impassioned love affair with another woman. Nor can one picture a man who loved his wife, contentedly and philosophically waiting for her to return to him after a honeymoon trip with a handsome stranger.

No. Whatever the secret of how to be happy though married, it does not consist in flirtatiousness. No one wants a part-time wife or husband. Nor does any one want a husband or wife who keeps one guessing. What one wants is certainty, not suspense, in marriage. A husband or wife who is as stable as the Rock of Gibraltar, in whose unchanging affections one can rest secure and in whose fidelity and loyalty one can trust as one trusts in God.

As for the complaint that what people mostly resent in marriage is the sense of bondage, why, that is what they marry for. They desire that bound feeling. They want to feel that they are bound to someone whose interests and well-being are bound up in theirs, whose very name is theirs. It gives them the warm, safe feeling of a shut-in room where one settles down and is at rest instead of wandering without purpose through a night of storm. Without we are bound to some one we are as forlorn as masterless dogs. And that is why most people are happier married than they are single, even though they fail to get their ideal mates. Better a hard master than none at all.

There has long been a romantic superstition that the quickest way to kill love is to put the chains of marriage around it. Never was there a greater fallacy, as is amply proved by the fact that these rarely last more than a few months, while millions of marriages endure for forty or fifty years. So short-lived is the usual free-love union that the very few that have survived the acid test of living together have been rare enough to be immortalized in song and story. But nobody thinks of making an epic of the Joneses and the Smiths, who are celebrating their golden wedding.

There are many reasons why marriage is a bulwark of love instead of its destroyer. One is that nothing unites people like a mutual interest, and a husband and wife who must rise or fall together and whose prosperity depends upon each other and whose children make an additional tie have the strongest of all possible bonds between them.

Then, too, they have the sense of finality to keep them from roaming. They feel that they have made their choice and must abide by it, and so their eye is not out for every attractive man or woman who crosses their paths. They are not counting their heartbeats. They are not always thinking of change, as are the free lovers who liberty consists in their being able to swap partners as often as they like.

And finally there is that sense of possession, a sort of egotism that makes us put a high value on what belongs to us, and that makes us think that our husbands and our wives are superior just because they are ours, as we think we have the best car or the best radio.

All of which brings us back to the fact that with all its faults marriage is stil the best arrangement that has yet been devised for the companionship of the sexes, and that the fewer liberties we take with it, the better.

Uncle Wiggily And Jackie's Bed

(By Howard R. Garis)

The Lady Mouse Teacher in the Hollow Tree School had gone away for a short vacation between Christmas and New Year Day and there were to be no classes of the animal children for another week. So Uncle Wiggily's little bunny boys and girls as well as the doggie, pussie and other animal children could play all day long.

One day Jingle, Jangle and Baby Bunty grew tired of so much play time (oh, yes, you can get tired of playing as much as you can of working) and Bunty said:

"I'm going to ask Unkie Wig to take us adventuring with him."

"That will be fun," said Jingle. "I'll come, too."

"So will I," said Jangle. "That is if Daddy will take us."

"He'll be sure to if Baby Bunty asks him," said Jingle. They all knew their father was very fond of the little orphan rabbit. And, surely enough, when Bunty asked if they couldn't come adventuring with him Uncle Wiggily answered:

"Of course you may, my dears. But I don't always find adventures when I go looking for them. However, something may happen, so hop along."

HOP ALONG

The three little rabbit girls hopped along with Uncle Wiggily, their ear ribbons fluttering in the wind, and pretty soon they saw Jackie Bow Wow, the puppy dog boy, running after them.

"May I come with you?" asked Jackie.

"Yes," said Uncle Wiggily, so Jackie also went adventuring. As they reached the woods, Baby Bunty asked:

"Why is it, Unkie Wig, that the Christmas trees here are so green in winter when all the other trees haven't any leaves?"

"Christmas trees haven't any leaves," barked Jackie, looking at the pine tree to which Bunty was pointing. "It's got green needles but no leaves."

"The green needles, as you call them, are really the leaves of the pine tree," said Uncle Wiggily. "Other evergreen trees, such as the hemlock, spruce and cedar, have leaves quite different from the leaves of the oak, maple or beech trees."

"Here where we live," said Jackie, "the leaves fall off the maple trees when it's nearly time for winter. Why don't they fall off the evergreen trees, Uncle Wiggily?"

"Evergreen trees lose their leaves, but not all at once, as a maple tree does," said the rabbit gentleman. "A few of the needle-like leaves fall off a pine tree every day, but new leaves or needles grow out to take their place and this goes on in winter as well as in summer, though, of course, the leaves grow faster in summer than in winter. But a pine or evergreen tree is different in other ways, in its bark, wood and the juice or sap under the bark."

MAPLE LEAVES

While Uncle Wiggily was telling this nature story to his rabbit children, Jack Bow Wow saw a pile of leaves under a maple tree. Running to this pile of leaves, Jackie began turning around and around in them, making a little hollow place in which he lay down.

"This is my bed," said Jackie. "Of course at home I have a regular bed but when I play in the woods I make a leaf bed. So it's a good thing lots of leaves fall from the maple and oak trees, for those leaves make the best beds."

"Why did Jackie turn around so many times in his leaf bed?" Bunty asked. Jingle and Jangle also wondered.

"All dogs do that," said Uncle Wiggily. "So do wolves, which are a sort of wild dog."

"The reason I trample down and turn around in the leaves," said Jackie, "is because it makes a softer place to lie in. And in summer, if a snake should be hiding under the leaves, he'd crawl out and run away before I curled up to go to sleep, when I turn around in them. Then I wouldn't get bitten." The bunnies were glad to learn this. It was almost as good as an adventure, they said, as they went home.

And if the strawberry ice cream doesn't sit on the gas stove and turn into tomato soup, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the busy bird.

ONTARIO MISHAPS CAUSE OF DEATHS

Canadian Press

Toronto, Jan. 2.—Ontario to-day counted a toll of four deaths as New Year's Day, 1935, was written into history.

One shooting, two automobile accidents and three sleighing mishaps accounted for the list of dead and injured.

At Windsor, Robert E. Lever, twenty-four, and Melvin R. Bright, twenty-two, were killed when their motor car crashed into a street car. Icy ruts were believed to have prevented the car from swerving out of the way of the street car.

At Niagara Falls, Francis d'Agohtino was fatally injured when he was sleighing. He died of a fracture of the skull after the sleigh on which he was sliding downhill had struck a culvert.

The other sleighing fatality was reported from Parry Sound, where five-year-old Neil Buckerfield slid across a road on his toboggan and was struck by a motor truck.

Capt. Hailey Ends Long Sea Career

Well-known Skipper Brought Ss. Empress of Canada to Victoria This Morning For the Last Time; Will Go Into Retirement in Vancouver

CAPT. A. J. HAILEY, R.N.R.

Capt. A. J. Hailey, R.N.R., picturesque, white-bearded skipper of the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Canada, had practically finished his sea career of fifty years when he docked his giant ship at the Rithet piers this morning from the Orient and Honolulu. Upon arrival in Vancouver this afternoon Capt. Hailey will pack up his belongings and leave for his shoreside home, finished with the sea as a calling.

Capt. A. J. Hosken, R.N.R., for many years commander of the Ss. Empress of Russia, reached Victoria this morning as a passenger aboard the Canada. He left the Russia in Kobe, after turning over command of that ship to Capt. H. James. When the Canada sails from here January 12, Capt. Hosken will be on the bridge.

For nearly fifty years Capt. Hailey has been at sea. Born in Bradford, Yorkshire, England, in 1874, the son of a clergyman, Capt. Hailey, in 1890, as a lad of sixteen took to the sea as an apprentice in the South American trade. He had his share of adventure in his early sailing days, and when off the coast of New Zealand, he was shipwrecked, tossing with his mates for hours in an open boat until picked up by a Shaw-Saville clipper ship.

SERVED IN WAR

Capt. Hailey's career on the Pacific started in 1900 when he took service in the old Empress of Japan as fourth officer. Later he came chief officer in the Athenian and served in the same capacity aboard the Empress of China and the Empress of Japan. His first command came in 1909. It was the Empress of India. He served aboard her until she was purchased in 1915 by the Gaekwar of Baroda. She was rechristened the Loyalty and presented to the British Admiralty for use as a hospital ship in the Great War.

During the latter days of the war Capt. Hailey saw service on the Atlantic with the Ss. Lake Manitoba and the Ss. Monmouth, plying in convoy.

For twelve years after the Armis- [illegible] of miles back and forth across the Pacific trade lanes as master of the Ss. Empress of Asia. When the Empress of Japan came out four years ago and Capt. Samuel Robinson went to her from the Empress of Canada, Capt. Hailey was transferred to the Canada.

The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the tables, the tide rises or falls continuously during three of the usual tidal periods.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of low water.

Nasturtium shoots in water make a novel addition to the room garden. The best results are obtained with the thick stemmed shoots which the plants send out so freely at this time of the year. Cut these fairly long and arrange them in a jar of water—rain water preferred. In a week or so white roots will appear and growth will resume. Change the water every ten days and keep in a sunny warm room if flowers are expected.

Remove all suckers from the Lilac trees, too many stems will often keep them from blooming.

HAD HOLIDAYS WHILE AT SEA

Passengers Enjoyed Christmas and New Year's Aboard Empress of Canada

Unusually fine weather for this season of the year featured the voyage from the Orient and Honolulu of the Ss. Empress of Canada. The big liner was favored with smooth seas and plenty of sunshine all the way from Yokohama, and arrived here early this morning.

Christmas Day was celebrated between Yokohama and Honolulu with a special dinner and a ball. New Year's Eve was the occasion for another celebration. The ship was smartly decorated with greenery and lighted Christmas trees. All the passengers said they were delighted with the holiday season at sea, especially with such good weather.

The Canada brought in sixty-four first class passengers, sixteen in the tourist cabin and about 125 in the third class and steerage. Several passengers from all classes disembarked here, the remainder proceeding to Vancouver.

LOCAL CARGO

Cargo for Victoria included some silver specie from Shanghai, destined to San Francisco and New York, raw silk and a fair amount of general. The liner docked at 7.30 o'clock and proceeded to Vancouver two hours later.

A. B. Kelly, connected with the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation at Penang, arrived by the Empress and will cross Canada, en route to London, on furlough.

Others going through to Europe included E. G. Steinhardt of Hamburg; Ove Lunn, Danish consul-general at Shanghai, en route to Copenhagen with his family; Lieut. C. Gauvan, French army officer, from Tientsin, en route to Paris with Mme. Gauvan.

New York people aboard the Canada included J. P. Harrison of the Universal Leaf Tobacco Company; Miss J. Krenwinkel, secretary to the United States delegation to the Red Cross convention; P. T. Friedmann, returning from a business trip to Japan; L. B. Turin, prominent importer and exporter, with Mrs. Turin, and G. Saryro.

J. Simpson New Toronto Mayor

OTHER ELECTIONS

In elections held in other cities yesterday E. W. McQuay was re-elected mayor of Owen Sound by a 1,520 majority over George Atkey. Norman J. M. Lockhart was chosen mayor of St. Catharines. Roland Deane was reelected chief magistrate of Peterborough with a 1,648 majority over Dr. T. W. H. Young, former medical health officer.

MR. SIMPSON'S CAREER

History repeats itself in the choice of James Simpson as forty-seventh mayor of Toronto in the first municipal election in the city's second century.

One hundred years ago William Lyon Mackenzie, printer, publisher and radical reformer, was Toronto's first mayor. His 1935 successor as chief magistrate is likewise by vocation a printer, labor paper publisher and protagonist of social reform. Mr. Simpson counts the lowly soap-box on the street corner a not unworthy rostrum for enunciation of his ideals for the working class.

Born in Lancashire, England, December 14, 1873, "Jimmie" Simpson at ten years of age sold newspapers and at fourteen came to Canada. He got himself a job in a Toronto factory dipping metal products into enamel, but soon decided his destiny lay in a "life of letters."

In due course of apprenticeship he became a newspaper compositor.

WAS REPORTER

When James Simpson stepped out as city hall reporter he held tight to his card in the typographical union—and thereby hangs one tale of his success. A member of that strong arm of organized labor for thirty-seven years, he has served for eighteen years as vice-president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada and for twenty-eight years as secretary-manager of the Toronto Labor Temple.

Mr. Simpson at sixty-one has reached the pinnacle of civic honors by the orthodox route. Elected to the board of education in 1905, he became its chairman five years later. He entered the city council in 1914, a controller by the highest vote ever given a candidate for the office up to that time.

Since 1930 he has been returned to the board of control at each successive municipal election.

ACTS AS ARBITRATOR

Leader of strikes at times, Mr. Simpson has attained greater prominence as conciliator in notable arbitrations. He has acted in that capacity for a dozen labor organizations and on many occasions as adviser in international labor affairs. As an appointee of the Dominion government he toured Europe on labor and education commissions and represented Canada at several of the international labor conferences in Geneva. He was presented with $1,000 as a "loving gift" for a lecture tour in New Zealand in 1918-19.

Mr. Simpson is a member of the United Church and as a former Methodist was actively engaged in the Sunday school work of that denomination. He is a teetotaler and has spoken in many countries in the interests of temperance.

The mayor-elect is married and has one daughter, Maxine, credited with being an invaluable aide to her father in his recent successful campaign.

"What variety of potato will not form knots?" a member of the Victoria Horticultural Society asked Jack James, Duncan seedsman, speaker at a recent meeting. Mr. James came back with the question: "What kind of soil have you got?"

"Black," was the reply.

"Then I am afraid there is no variety which will not form knots. You see, the rich black soil makes the potato go on growing after it has fully developed. Intermittent rain will also cause second growth."

Flying Professor Here From Orient

"Our flight, accomplished in easy stages, was made for educational purposes," said the affable flying professor. "We are not probing anything, nor making scientific investigations or surveys. We plan to fly south to San Francisco, and after that—well, you had better leave it indefinite.

"We set out on the trip purely for pleasure and education and we have had the time of our lives. We took our time and maintained our prearranged schedule without experiencing any serious mishaps."

Taking off from New Haven, Conn., on August 17, Dr. Light and his partner flew to Labrador and reached England by way of Iceland. They subsequently visited the Netherlands, Denmark, Sweden, Germany, Italy, Greece, Cyprus, Iraq, Persia, India, Siam, Malaya, Java, Borneo and the Philippines. In all the countries they visited they flew from city to city, taking time to see the sights. At Bagdad they waited up all night to see the London-to-Melbourne flight contestants arrive. They saw the Mollisons come in first, followed by Scott and Black, the winners of the race.

Nothing really eventful occurred during the entire trip and the Wasp-motored seaplane did all that was expected of it.

PACIFIC AIR LANES

Dr. Light expressed interest in the proposed transpacific air service planned by the Pan-Pacific Airways. He said he hoped to see lighter-than-air craft used on the service, the capacity of which, he declared, had been demonstrated by Dr. Hugo Eckner in his transatlantic dirigible flights. He predicted that aviation would be developed to such a stage when individuals, piloting their own planes, would be able to fly from one country to another with speed and in comparative safety.

A research expert in surgery at the Yale medical school, Dr. Light makes a hobby of flying. He said he had been flying for six years and owns his own plane. He bought the Bellanca seaplane second-hand and equipped the machine with instruments for the circuit of the globe.

Both fliers have been effectively dodging publicity, and at no time are they eager to "open up" in the presence of newspapermen. When they were planning to span the North Atlantic, they did not broadcast their plans. Arriving at Sydney, Nova Scotia, they denied they planned to fly around the world, declaring they were merely on a holiday flight to Cartwright, Labrador. They pushed on, however, and were next heard from on the Greenland coast.

On the latter stages of their flight to Manila they followed much the same route as Richard Halliburton, the author, and his pilot, Moe Stevens, who flew through the Orient about two years ago and shipped their plane from Manila to San Francisco.

At no time during the trip did Light and Wilson fly more than 800 miles at a stretch. Their seaplane has a gas capacity of 250 gallons, although more can be carried if necessary.

Mr. Wilson is a twenty-two-year-old Yale graduate who shipped as radio operator. He can also take his turn at the controls, although most of the piloting was done by Dr Light. Both fliers said they were feeling very fit on their arrival here, and are anticipating with pleasure their return home.

The fuselage of the seaplane was stowed on the forward deck encased in tarpaulins, while the wings, similarly covered, were lashed to each rail on the after deck of the liner. The parts will be landed on arrival at Vancouver and assembled for the California flight.
